NEWS

Dog handlers don't have to be straight

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Police Commission has ruled that police dog handlers don't have to be married heterosexuals.

Despite the urging of Police Chief Cornelius Murphy that only handlers who are married and who have children be allowed to train dogs for police work because he preferred those with a "normal family life," the Commission ruled otherwise.

The Police Commission is made up of civilian members who examine matters affecting the police department. Commissioner Al Nelder, a former Chief of Police himself, pointed out that prohibiting non-marrieds from holding such a job "might not be feasible or even constitutional."

British Rail says couples are he-she

LONDON — British Rail said that it "is not discriminating against any group of people" when it stipulates that cut-rate pair tickets for excursions to London for happy couples must be for "a lady and a gentleman."

In protest, two men appeared in drag at Line Street Station in Liverpool and demanded tickets, because two women had been earlier accommodated with the special excursion rate for a trip to allow them to shop in London.

British Rail has since abandoned their happy couple discount.

Anita's friends turn on her

TULSA — Want to know why Anita Bryant has lost faith in all her fundamentalist friends?

Well it seems, not only did they not stand by her when she divorced husband Bob, who had continually used and taken advantage of her, but now they're making threatening phone calls to her and may-be fiance Larry Striplin.

Wedding ceremonies were actually set for the former anti-gay crusader, who has since changed her mind not only about homosexuals but about feminists as well, when Ms. Bryant and Striplin began receiving threatening phone calls from unidentified sources.

Both were warned that if they went through with their intended wedding that the ceremonies would be marred by demonstrations. Bryant was called an unfit mother, wife and Christian by a number of callers - leading to speculation that the calls originated from Christian fundamentalist camps discontent that their former symbol of religious purity had divorced and was considering another marriage.

According to one supermarket tabloid, Bryant and Striplin decided to postpone their marriage for the sake of their children.

Ex-husband Bob? Of course, he has taken the wedding cancellation as a sign from God that he and Anita should reunite.

Needless to say, Green's finances have dropped to almost nothing since Anita's departure leading to some speculation that it is his pocketbook instead of God doing the calling.

Ms. Bryant might disagree with Green's revelation. Her Ladies Home Journal interview published recently pointed to Green as the prime mover in her anti-gay crusade.

Gay rumors force doc to leave

MURDO, S.D. — The 900 residents of this prairie town, without a doctor for 12 years, raised $18,000 to put Jerry Turgeon through medical school. Now Murdo's without a doctor again — Turgeon left when rumors that he was homosexual cut deep into his practice.

The 29-year-old doctor, who denies the rumors, says: "It's kind of depressing when something like that happens. When you should be thinking about medicine and patients, you're wondering why it's going on and how you are going to end it."

Turgeon, a Sioux Falls native, set up practice here in August and soon was treating 30 patients a day from Murdo and surrounding communities.

The town, 60 miles from the nearest hospital, had paid his medical school expenses and agreed to erase the debt if he practiced here for at least five years.

Enthusiastic about the community and his work, Turgeon was talking of attracting other doctors and expanding his clinic when the practice dropped off abruptly.

By October, he was seeing only an average of four patients a day.

"We couldn't figure out what had happened," said his nurse practitioner, Marilyn Seymour, who also lost her job in the controversy when the patient load dropped and Turgeon had to let her go.

When Turgeon was evicted from his rented house, he learned there were rumors that he was homosexual.

Apparently behind the rumors was the fact that the doctor shared his house with another unmarried man who was attending nursing school in Pierre.

"Needless to say, he was very shattered," Mrs. Seymour said. "That was his dream, getting set up in Murdo."

The Rev. Ted Gall wrote to the local paper in Turgeon's defense. "We don't know exactly where the rumor came from," he said. "The sad thing is we weren't able to squelch it. The majority of people really wanted a doctor."

Unable to stop the rumors, Turgeon left in November.

Asked if he were homosexual, Turgeon, spending the holidays with his parents in Sioux Falls, joked, "Not the last time I checked."

Community leaders have said little about the episode, and the chairman of the local board that recruited Turgeon has discouraged publicity for fear it would damage the town's efforts to recruit another doctor.

Turgeon, who now owes the town $18,000, said the "majority of people there were fantastic. They gave me a lot of support.

"But the fact is, the rumors got more widespread than Murdo and when you're practicing in a community that size, you need the draw of communities in the area," he said.

"Maybe later I'll reach a point of maturity where I can shrug that kind of thing off. Today I can't, and I question how many people could."

Lesbian mom hides to keep daughter

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A self-avowed lesbian was hiding last week with her daughter, saying she spirited the girl away several days ago because a judge granted custody of the 6-year-old to a babysitter.

"We're looking for her and we assume the police are looking for her," said Greg Galloway, a lawyer for the state Human Services Department. He said his agency had obtained a warrant charging Rose Delaney with kidnapping.

Ms. Delaney told a reporter for The Tennessean she waited outside Lakeview Elementary School for the sitter — Mrs. Dean McNabb — to take her daughter, Cherrise, to school last Tuesday.

"I said, 'You're not going to school today,'" Ms. Delaney said, adding she then took Cherrise away. She called Pat Morgan, a state case worker, to tell her the girl was safe.

Ms. Delaney said she decided to take her daughter after Circuit Judge Benson Trimble granted custody to Mrs. McNabb on Dec. 2 over the objections of the Human Services Department.

"I am prepared to stay in jail until the day I die rather than turn the child over to that woman," Ms. Delaney said, adding she could not afford a lawyer to appeal the decision in court.

The state has had legal custody of the child since Mrs. McNabb raised a question, in a Juvenile Court proceeding two years ago, about Ms. Delaney's sexual preference, housing arrangements for the girl and the mother's work record. The girl has stayed with Mrs. McNabb since then.

In granting Mrs. McNabb custody, Trimble said he was "not satisfied with the arrangement that has heretofore been made insofar as this minor child is concerned."

Howard Doty, Mrs. McNabb's lawyer, said the judge "looked at all the circumstances, not just the fact that the mother is gay." Among other things, Doty said, "She has been living off a child-support allotment from her ex-husband when she did not even have the child." Doty said the husband, a Navy computer operator, divorced Ms. Delaney when Cherrise was five months old.

"Besides that, she literally gave the child to my client," Doty said, referring to a June 1977 document signed by Ms. Delaney giving Mrs. McNabb permission "to keep the baby, to enter her into the hospital or take her to a doctor in my absence and do for her as if she were her child."

Ms. Delaney said she signed the paper to ensure the girl could receive medical care. The mother began paying Mrs. McNabb $25 a week in June 1977, to care for Cherrise.

Gay politicians win elective offices

While conservative, anti-gay Republicans swept across the country during the recent election, two gay candidates won wide majorities in their bids for reelection to office.

Long-time gay activist Karen Clark defeated her Republican opponent Jim Hagen by a 2 to 1 margin for a seat in the Minnesota House of Representatives.

While Clark had been the target of gay-baiting by her opponents in the primary, the run off elections found her nearest competitors endorsing gay rights and focusing on an issue-oriented campaign.

In another victory for gays, San Francisco's gay Supervisor, Harry Britt, won his re-election bid despite at-large balloting that included the whole city.

Former San Francisco Sheriff, Richard Hongisto, who pioneered the participation of gays in that department, was also elected to the Board.

To keep his job, gay tells family

A homosexual employee of the National Security Agency in Washington, D.C., is being allowed to keep his job and security clearances but first had to agree to four conditions, including telling his family of his homosexuality to reduce the chance of blackmail, a gay, activist says.

The decision permitting the mid-level employee to keep his job after the agency discovered he was a homosexual was believed to be the first of its kind in the American intelligence community. The NSA, based in Fort Meade, Md., is involved in sensitive code-breaking work and worldwide monitoring of communications.

Franklin E. Kameny, a gay rights activist who is a commissioner on the District of Columbia's Commission on Human Rights, said that the unidentified employee, in his early 30s, has worked for the NSA for about six years and has clearances giving him access to highly classified government material.

Kameny said the conditions the employee agreed to to keep his job, in addition to telling his mother and seven brothers and sisters about his homosexuality, are that he:

- Abide by agency guidelines on maintaining anonymity about his place of work.

- Not engage in any public activity that may be illegal. Kameny said that restriction "does not cover private, consenting relations on the part of the employee and adults."

- Cooperate with any investigation needed to update his compliance with the other points.

The Washington Post today reported that Daniel C. Schwartz, NSA general counsel, said an investigation was conducted and the case was decided "pursuant to certain commitments made by the employee to the agency."

Schwartz was quoted as saying the case "is not a major shift of policy in how we deal with homosexuals." He said all cases are considered on an individual basis and that in this case, it was decided there was no security risk.

TALK AROUND

Pardon us, our slip is showing. Last COMMUNITY featured this HOT SHOT of Talk of the Town owner Ben, left, and Telo, who cooks the regular Sunday meal at the bar. Somehow the caption got way-layed on the way to the printer.

NEW YEAR'S: Bars across San Antonio and Austin were packed with revelers welcoming in the New Year (see the next COMMUNITY for pictures).

At the Talk of the Town where large numbers donned costumes to bring in the New Year Little David was the hit of the night, dressed as the New Year's Baby, clad only in diaper.

Over at the Crew a packed house turned out to welcome in the New Year with the annual buffet of black eyed peas and cornbread.

The San Antonio Country took the chance to grand open their new Rose Window Room complete with stainless steel dance floor that could well revolutionize San Antonio discos.

And at Snuffy's Saloon, Madam Arthur's and the El Jardin revelers donned party hats and drank champagne to welcome in the New Year.

Across town, full houses at Faces and Our Place hooted and hollered and brought in the New Year in grand style.

Parties were also held at the Friendly Lounge, Mary Ellen's, the Impala Nightclub, the Sunset Blvd. and other COMMUNITY bars across town

In Austin a live country-western band livened up festivities at the Red River Crossing and the New Apartment crowd sang and drank in 1981.

At Tex's Colorado St. Bar, cash balloons and disco saw 1980 pass into history.

Over at the Private Cellar, New Year's was just part of an exciting week planned by George and his crew.

On New Year's Eve it was a live jazz band, champagne, party hats and noise makers.

Friday, Happy Hour bartender rob hosted a jalapeno eating contest and the Waller Creek Saloon had a big cash giveaway.

On Saturday there will be Bloody Marys for 81 cents to help welcome in '81 with 81. Later Saturday night all the cowboys will be coming out in full western costume for the Hero and Outlaw Contest where customers will dress up as their favorite hero or outlaw for a contest at the Waller Creek Saloon that offers a $50 first prize and a $25 second place prize.

On Sunday the Private Cellar will serve Oysters on the Half Shell at 4 p.m. with Happy Hour Prices all day and all night long.

PAGEANTS: The Miss San Antonio Country Pageant will be held Tuesday, Jan. 13th with contestants vying for top spot in the contest that is a preliminary to the Ms. Gay San Antonio Metroplex pageant. Emcee for the event is Miss Gay America Lady Shawn.

Two days later the winner will participate in the Ms. Gay Metroplex pageant at Faces where Lollie will bring together the top in Alamo City female impersonators for the San Antonio finale.

Both shows begin at 10 p.m. There is a $2 cover charge at the Country and a $3 cover charge for the final pageant at Faces.

Entry deadline for the Metroplex pageant is Jan. 6th. Only a limited number of contestants can be entered in the contest. Applications are available at Faces.

PREMIERE PERFORMANCES: San Antonio Country begins it's all-star lineup for it's new Thursday and Sunday cabaret shows on January 4th with San Antonio favorite Abby in concert. The show begins at 10 p.m. with 90 cent well drinks and 50 cent beer.

On Thursday, Jan. 8th it's the premiere of the Country's hot new shows that feature only the best that the U.S. has to offer in female impersonation.

Lady Shawn

On Thursday it's none other than Miss Gay America Lady Shawn, joined by Rachel Wells, Coco and Tiffany Arriegas for what should amount to absolutely the best, hottest and wildest show the Alamo City has ever experienced.

Showtime is 10 p.m.

The following Sunday on the 11th it's popular Tiffany Arriegas in concert. Tiffany wowed crowds at the Country earlier this year and kept the crowd on it's feet more than in it's seat with an absolutely astounding show.

On Thursday the 15th the Country will show the movie Cruising at 10 p.m. and take up it's shows once again on the 18th with Rachel Wells and Lady Shawn in concert.

HOT TEA: Miss Kitty of the Crew has joined the First Baptist Church according to Sister Dottye Devyne LaPitt who spoke in the strictest of confidence to the Talk Around. Seems there's something about a cowboy who throws 'em high instead of riding 'em high as the case may be.

On the other hand, the Talk Around has been informed that the Devyne LaPitt made her first visit to the local tubs, otherwise known as the Executive Health Spa, only to be continually disturbed by a poppers-queen as he tried to sleep the night away!

Happy Hour bartender Rob of Austin's Private Cellar was in hometown

San Antonio over the Christmas holidays and while he was seen in the neighborhood laundry he never got around to cruising Alamo City night-spots.

No one seems to know what has happened to Billy Walker, the bartender who has worked at almost every bar in San Antonio. Latest rumor has it that he's selling used Cadillacs on the S. Side!

RUMOR MILL: Popular San Antonio Country security guard Samantha Arangua has been named to the Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities.

Coming in March to Community oriented juke boxes across the state is a new record. Yep, it's the 'Snuffy's Saloon,' a disc cut by a Houston group ala San Antonian Ron Weaver. Flip side is entitled "Drink and Drown" and all indications point to big hits for both, especially at Snuffy's in the Alamo City. Houstonite Angel Soto wrote the songs and sings lead, backed up by Weaver, Danny Villa and Matt.

Country-western has become such a hot item in Austin that the Red River Crossing and the Waller Creek Saloon, both just a couple of blocks from each other, are packing in large crowds drawn in by dancing at the Crossing and cruising at the Saloon. Added to that is the impact of good-looking bartenders Ray at the Waller Creek Saloon and Doug and Britt at the Crossing. Look out disco!

HAPPY TRAVELERS: Ben of the Talk of the Town will be leaving the Alamo City for a visit to the Big Apple in early January. Paul of the International News returned from a Christmas trip to Arkansas only to find International burned to the ground. Border of the Stallion Bookstore in Austin was called back from a trip early when dad Harry made a trip of his own - to Baptist Memorial - but things are ok now. And Courtney, formerly of the Arthur Burton Dancers, will be returning to the San Antonio Country in January.

Long-time couple Butch and Gene just returned from a 3-day visit to Rockport to visit friend Barbara, who after a long fight with an illness, is now up on her feet doing the Cotton Eye Joe. Great news!

Christmas brought a lot of Houstonites to San Antonio and Austin for the holidays, proving that the dynamite combination of Austin-S.A. is fast becoming the best drawing card in the state for cruising and an all-around good time. Among those visitors were Frosty and Bill and Cody, who came up for the New Year's with Snuffy's owners Marvin and Ron.

NAMEDROPPERS: Bobby Martin is back at the Country joining DJs Rick Squillante and Larry Dillard and giving the disco what manager Scotty calls the top 3 music spinners in town.

And Irene is back at Faces after a short leave, though she will continue some of her bartending duties at the Country.

LuLu of Snuffy's Saloon is doing double duty at the piano. On Monday's he plays at Snuffy's and he's playing at Our Place on Wednesdays from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Miss Riki

Miss Riki, formerly of Austin, who is now wowing the Dallas show bars, will be returning to her home territory in February when he's scheduled at the San Antonio Country Cabaret Theater. Coming along to the Country's shows from Dallas is also the punk-rock female impersonator "Dragon Lady".

Donna the Kid is spinning the discs at Our Place, much to the delight of the packed crowd at one of the Alamo City's top bars.

Robert is the Happy Hour bartender at the Crew on Market St. in the Alamo City. A 22-year-old Libra he's drawing in great afternoon crowds to the always popular bar.

The Alamo City's El Jardin looked like the site for a barowners convention last week when Jardin owner Darrell was joined for drinks by Talk of Town owner Ben, Doug of the Crew and Marvin of Snuffy's Saloon.

SAD TRAGEDIES: International Bookstore on I-35 outside of San Antonio was burned to the ground by someone apparently trying to cover-up a robbery and a man was murdered, allegedly by three female impersonators in a silver Mercedes at the Impala Nightclub in San Antonio over the Christmas holidays. Anyone with any information that might help the police catch those connected with these crimes against the gay community should contact the San Antonio Police Dept. or COMMUNITY Magazine at 734-2843.

GOOD NEWS: Despite the fact that an arsonist torched the ever-popular International News on I-35 plans are still that the neighboring building will be re-opened this week as the largest bookstore complex in the Alamo City area. It will include a video theatre as well as more peeps than any other area bookstore, along with the best supply of books, paperbacks and movies.

Even with the break-up of the Arthur Burton Dancers, fans of sexy dance-boys Steve, Danny and Kenny won't be left without dance fever at the San Antonio Country Cabaret Theater. Seems the three will go out on their own as the Mantis 3 and can still be seen regularly at the popular cabaret shows put on at the Alamo City's largest disco.

BIRTHDAY BOYS: Two bartenders just down the street from each other celebrated birthdays just days apart recently. They were bartender Jeff of the El Jardin and Andy of the Crew. Jeff's party dished out meatballs while roomie Scotty Roberts of the Country was seen toting a rose-decorated cake to the handsome Crew bartender.

DRINK SPECIALS: The Talk of the Town has announced a new list of drink specials offered by the Broadway street establishment. Happy Hour drinks at the bar will be 2 for 1 at $1.50 and Tuesdays at the bar will be Happy Hour all night long. On Monday and Fridays it's 50 cent schnapps all night long and on Thursdays it's tequilla specials for 50 cents all night. 35 cent draft beer is offered until 10 p.m. on Wednesdays and Sundays.

Over at Our Place Happy Hour is from 2 to 6 p.m. with Happy Hour prices extended until 2 a.m. on Mondays with 50 cents off all call liquor from 8 to 10 p.m. On Tuesdays it's "Get Together" Night when Judy and her crew hand out name tags and push all the tables together so that customers can get to know each other better and serve up 50 cent beer from 8 to 10 p.m. A Beer Bust from 2 to 6 p.m. highlights Sunday activities at the bar with 85 cent margaritas and bloody marvys.

POOL TOURNEYS: The San Antonio Country is the latest in a number of San Antonio bars that sponsor pool tournaments including Faces and Madam Arthur's. The tournament will offer a $25 cash prize for 1st place, a $15 second place finish and a $10 third prize. There is a $3 entry fee for the every Monday contest. On the last Tuesday of each month there will be a monthly championship. Registration is from 7 to 8 p.m. and Margo is in charge.

HEALTH: Due to the recent success of Health Line the staff of Foward Foundation has expanded its organization and changed Health Line to Gay Health Services. The new organization will offer the following services to the Community: medical referral to doctors and psychologists who understand the gay lifestyle, V.D. testing, gay male and female rap groups, Parents and Friends of Gays, Military Counseling, Employment Counseling, Roommate referral service and a speaker's bureau.

All the services are offered free of charge and are open to anyone requiring them. New headquarters for the group is on Blanco Road in San Antonio and their phone number is 222-1810.
