CRUISE ATTENDS "THE SOCIAL EVENT OF THE SEASON"

Miss Florida Pageant female impersonators

Keith Landon and his able staff have brought drag out of the closet and promoted female impersonation into big time entertainment. Anyone who attended this year's Miss Florida Pageant for Female Impersonators could not help but be impressed not only with the location (the fabulous Hotel Fontainebleau on Miami Beach) and size of the event, but with the quality of the performances presented.

Over two thousand people gathered in the Grand Ballroom of this spectacular hotel to watch twenty-six

Cruise Editorial

This month we begin our coverage of the Sunshine State of Florida. We feel it is an especially appropriate month to begin this coverage for three reasons. First, this issue contains the story of the Miss Florida Pageant, probably the most spectacular event of its kind in the Southeast, and this year's winner, Hot Chocolate, is a Florida native (from Fort Myers) who is now a regular performer and was sponsored by Atlanta's Hollywood Hot Club.

Second this is the season when guys and gals from Georgia and the other southeastern states head for the Florida beaches, and we want to be able to tell them where to go. On our trip to the Miss Florida Pageant we stopped at The Riviera Hotel in Daytona, The Parliament House in Orlando, The Wedgwood Inn in St. Petersburg, The Marlin Beach Hotel in Fort Lauderdale and the Windward Resort Motel in Miami Beach. At all of these we were treated royally and at all of them we found lots of fun people, all having a good time. We only regret that we couldn't spend longer at each place or visit the other resorts and clubs that welcome and solicit out-of-town gay business. We had wanted to include the story of our trip with the story of the Miss Florida Pageant but we have so much to tell we decided to limit this month's story to the pageant itself and devote a complete article next month to telling you about the resorts and the other clubs we visited on our trip.

And thirdly this is a good month to start Cruising Florida because it is a time when many people from Florida and all over the nation go on vacations. We want these

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL IN ATLANTA

BY SANDLOT SADIE

This year the Atlanta Parks and Recreation Department has six different leagues of Women's Slow Pitch Softball Teams. There are seven or eight teams in each league for a total of 45 teams. With ten to twenty players on each team that's a lot of women involved in softball in Atlanta this summer. Of course all these girls aren't gay, but there are at least four teams that are all gay and a number of gay players (both in and out of the closet) on other teams.

Before we go any further it might be worthwhile to note that there is only one women's fast pitch team in the department, Lorelei's Ladies, and because they are the only one they must play out of town teams.

Practice starts as soon as warm weather arrives and the Leagues crank up the last of April. The most popular setting for games is Piedmont Park. However games are also played at Grant Park, Key Park, Maddox Park, and Peachtree Hills. Competition goes on until August with playoffs within each league at mid-season and at the end. There is no play between leagues. The reason for this is the way the leagues are organized. Each contains teams which have similar experience, skill levels, and won and loss records.

The four all-gay teams are the Southern Furies and Atlantis, both sponsored by ALFA, the Atlanta Lesbian Feminist Alliance; and the Tower Hot Shots and the Tower Rebels, both sponsored by the Tower Lounge, the popular women's

CRUISING AROUND

With the opening of all the new bars in Atlanta the competition for the customer's dollar has become very keen. It is impossible to keep up with all the specials but I thought I would take a little time this month to tell you about a couple that I have taken advantage of recently.

The popular Back Street Lounge has decided to put some life into Saturday afternoon on these hot summer weekends. They are now opening at 12:30 PM with their usual happy hour prices on most items and very special prices on certain Vodka drinks. Bloody Marys and Screwdrivers are only $.50 all afternoon and starting at 2 PM they are serving a delicious buffet. The Saturday I went was the first and Mrs. Fernandez (Joe's Mother) really did it up big. She offered us two main dishes, barbecue chicken and Swedish meatballs. Along with that she had the best baked beans I think I ever ate, potato salad, relish tray and rolls. It was a feast fit for a king or a queen and I had to go back for seconds. They had plenty and it lasted until they took it away about 4:30. By that time everyone was really having a ball (we'd all had four or five of those big Screwdrivers or Bloody Marys). There was a lot of dancing going on and several people were playing Backgammon. Some of the crowd started drifting out about five but a number of the big drinkers such as myself stayed on until the evening crowd arrived. The following week it was just as much fun. That week they had a great salad bar, home-made chili and corn on the cob. So if you're short of bread and want a good meal for free, or you just happen to want to get out and have a good time on Saturday afternoon, check out the free buffet at Back Street.

If you can't make it for the free feed at Back Street on Saturday you should make it a point to go to the Cove on Sunday. Lloyd and his crew have reopened their patio (sometimes called the Kudzu Kourt) and offer free hamburgers and hot dogs there on Sunday afternoon. They have the charcoal grill set-up and the hamburgers and hot dogs are cooked to order. You can have your hamburger as rare as you want and dress it yourself. It's all very casual but that's usually the way things are there at the Cove, casual and friendly. You may find people there playing cards, reading or just soaking up the sun. Of course everyone is cruising and the Sunday afternoon I was there there was plenty to cruise. They have reduced prices on drinks on Sunday too.

Speaking of special drink prices it is hard to beat some of the specials they have there at the Cove. All day on Wednesdays they are selling beer and well drinks for $.65. And quite often, even on busy nights, they will

Mr. Gay Atlanta Speaks Out!

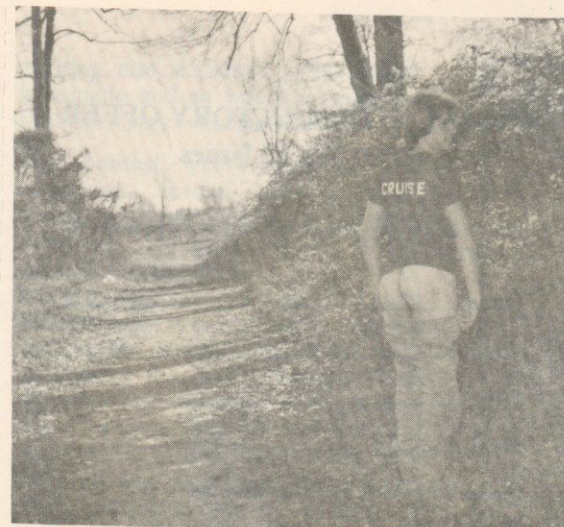

Editor's Note: This is the season for contests. This year the "Mr. Gay" contests have been especially popular. We have already seen Mr. Bi-Centennial, Mr. Sweet Gum Head, Mr. Locker Room, Mr. P, and Mr. Gay Alabama chosen. And coming up soon is the Mr. Gay Atlanta competition. To get any idea of what goes on behind the scenes we asked Tony Romano, the current reigning Mr. Gay Atlanta to write an article for us about what it's like to compete in one of these contests and what it's like after you've won. His article follows.

This is the first opportunity I've had to speak out since I won the title of Mr. Gay Atlanta. I have a lot to say both about being Mr. Gay Atlanta and about Atlanta itself. Most of Atlanta's gay publications would probably edit the hell out of this article, but I think CRUISE has the integrity to print my opinions as Mr. Gay Atlanta honestly.

Sometime last summer someone decided it was time to hold the first Mr. Gay Atlanta Contest. There had been a Miss Gay Atlanta Pageant for six years and everyone was ready to get the guys (sans wigs and dresses) into the act. I was working at the Sweet Gum Head at the time and as the contest was to be held there I was asked to coordinate the sound and tape the music. This I was glad to do but when only a few contestants qualified and I was urged to enter also, I had to think about it. But the more I thought about it, the more I thought it might be fun - if nothing else different. So history was made and so was I -- made the first Mr. Gay Atlanta that is

The contest was judged in four categories; formal evening wear, sports wear, swimwear and talent or question. Up until the day of the contest I really had no intention of being a serious contestant, but then suddenly my mood changed. All the cast at the Sweet Gum Head were sponsoring me and I thought "well why not try and win, for them anyway." I knew that most of the guys were good looking and some very talented and so it would take something unique to win the contest. I had to impress upon the judges the fact that I could represent Atlanta better than any of the other contestants. So I laid my plans.

For evening wear, I picked a solid white tuxedo with a baby blue shirt and white shoes. This tended to accentuate a well worked-on suntan. As my number was called, I felt the bottom drop out of my guts and I wanted to be running the music instead. But I walked on stage and the audience cheered and I came to life. I was on a familiar stage, one on which I had worked many times, but this time I was being judged. It was a whole new feeling.

Next came the sportswear competition. I felt that to get points here I would have to be particularly unique. I wore an apron with a stencil of a nude male torso on the front, elbow length mittens and nothing else. When I turned my back to walk off stage, the audience was surprised to see a bare butt! I picked up a lot of points there.

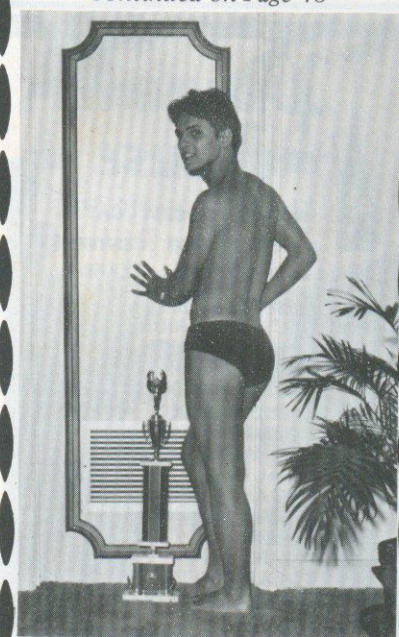

The next category was talent and I knew I could excel here if I chose the right songs to sing. I decided on two of my favorites, "The Way We Were"

and "Pieces of Dreams." If I sing a song that means something to me, I think that the audience picks up on that, anyway they did that night. After the talent competition I began to feel confident. The swimsuit category went well for me. Some of the guys felt it necessary to stuff their bathing suits with artificial fillers. But the judges were not fooled and this showed up in the scoring. As the finalists were called I was sweating "like a nigger in Alabama at election time" as my good friend Deva Sanchez would say. I was not third runner up, nor second nor first and then I knew I had won. But it didn't really register until later.

So now I've been Mr. Gay Atlanta for almost a year and if you were to ask me what it has been like I would have to be honest and say it hasn't been what I expected. Unlike Miss Gay Atlanta, I have no special appearances or special duties to perform. I thought that I would be asked to judge some other contests and maybe entertain, but I was mistaken. So far the only event in which I have been asked to participate was a contest at the Onyx. I thoroughly enjoyed that evening and the hospitality of Jim Nalley there.

Negativism is not my thing, but I feel that I should take this opportunity to express my opinions. Lately we have seen many Miss Gay This and Mr. Gay That Contests and in many cases the contests seem to be so obviously "fixed" that it has become insulting to the audiences. I feel that this is due in part to the total disunity of the Atlanta gay community and in particular the hostility between the gay bars. In no other city do bars fight each other to the point that customers stay home. This is particularly apparent to out-of-town visitors. A recent article about Atlanta in

In Touch praised our city in many ways but stated that the gay disunity was overwhelming. We have seen arson and murder and one wonders what next. And yet many gay people in Atlanta seem to be content to go along with their everyday existence ignoring the obvious. If no one is interested enough to take positive action, then we may see things get worse.

Cruise has asked what kind of gent turns me on . . . I am attracted to men. Physical beauty, although important, is not essential. I like an average guy who is not pretentious. When I first meet someone, I look for the overall impression and for the personality traits which I find exciting. I like honest people, I despise phonies and will go out of my way to avoid them. I am basically a very sensitive and moody person. A lot of guys have asked me how they can improve their appearances. Well guys, just be who and what you are. Do what you do best and don't worry about what anyone else thinks. Sooner or later, someone will come along who likes what you have to offer - whatever it is.

Right now I'm working at the Sweet Gum Head playing the music for the dancing and the shows. By profession I'm a singer first, a disc-jockey second. I've worked from coast to coast, Canada and the Bahamas and it would be honest to say that I enjoy singing even more than sex. Unfortunately I don't get the chance to entertain as much as I would like. I've been trying to break into the legitimate entertainment field here in Atlanta for some time, but have had no luck to date. Consequently, I am now looking to possible new horizons.

I've been asked if I think there is much demand for talented people (other than female impersonators) in the gay entertainment field. Yes, the demand is there. But the cost seems to be prohibitive to most Atlanta bar owners. The Sweet Gum Head still has the most original and imaginative show of female impersonators in Atlanta. Non-drag entertainment exists now at R.J.'s and at the Manhattan Yellow Pages and although the demand is there, gay people have not so far come out and supported this type of entertainment in large enough numbers. So these places must play to a primarily straight crowd. How the Atlanta entertainment scene develops in the future is up to you and the bar owners. They can give you new and exciting talent but you must be willing to come out and support it.

As far as I know the date and place for the second Mr. Gay Atlanta contest has not been set, but where ever it is, I'll be there, come hell or high water, singing my heart out. So if you can make it, plan to drop in . . . you just might have a real good time.

TERRY

For those of you who like your men blond and beautiful, we bring you June's Man of the Month, Terry. Terry is a professional dancer, having majored in ballet at the North Carolina School of Art. He has appeared with the Metropolitan Ballet Company, touring companies and done summer stock in community theaters. At the time the pictures were taken, he was working as a hair stylist in one of Atlanta's exclusive northside salons. Since then he's moved to Ft. Lauderdale and is currently working at the Poop Deck at the Marlin Beach Hotel. He tells us he's single, available and loves to party.

contestants vie for the title. After over four hours of superlative entertainment the seven distinguished judges selected Hot Chocolate from Atlanta's Hollywood Hot as the 1976 winner. Jennifer Dzhones (pronounced Jones) sponsored by Roger Luckett, Inc. (Real Estate) of Ft. Lauderdale was first runner up; Bobbie Lake sponsored by Rene's Lounge of Tampa was second runner up and Chili Pepper from Bachelor's II of Miami was third runner up. Also selected as finalist were Brandy McDaniel from the Club Hollywood in Daytona, Rachael Santoni from the Hayloft in Miami, De De Young from the Riviera Hotel in Daytona and Jesse DeVille from the Odds & Ends Club in Hollywood.

As Keith so ably put it in describing the history of the pageant in his remarks in the program, "You've Come A Long Way, Baby". The first Miss Florida Pageant for Female Impersonators was held at the Unified Hall in North Miami Beach in 1972. One hundred and fifty-one people were there to see Tricia Marie from Atlanta crowned. From there it was moved to the Dunes Motel on Miami Beach where 350 patrons watched Emore DuBois win her title.

But many people had to be turned away and the search was on for larger quarters. The third and fourth pageants were held at the Marco Polo Hotel with crowds of 650 and 800 but with people still being turned away. Roxanne Russell won the title in 1974 and Noly Greer was the 1975 winner.

With over two thousand seats this year's show was also a sell out. Almost 300 circular tables were set up in the vast room to afford everyone a good seat. A runway that went half the length of the room brought the performers out into the audience so those in the rear could get a better look. The ultimate in sound and lighting enhanced the show.

And what a show it was. The theme was America's Bi-Centennial and after six glamorous showmen danced to the music of "76 Trombones", Brick Mason, Mr. Florida took over an MC and gave an inspiring tribute to our country with slides depicting scenes from across the United States, a poignant description of his feelings about our great country and the ever beautiful strains of "America the Beautiful." Then after he gave a brief history of female impersonation (it began in ancient Greece when women were not allowed to perform on the stage and therefore men had to play the female parts in the theater), he introduced his co-host for the evening, the delightful mistress of ceremonies from Orlando's Parliament House, Miss P.

Next came the introduction and presentation of a very special guest, Won Ton Ton the canine star of the new movie, "The Dog Who Saved Hollywood". Won walked the runway wearing a $300,000 diamond collar from Tiffany's. Then after the introduction of the judges, the show was on.

The judging was done initially in three categories, Evening Wear, Swimwear and Talent with the first two being worth a maximum of 25 points and talent being worth 50 points. The evening wear competition was judged on beauty, hair, make-up, poise and attire. Swimwear was judged on legs, body, beauty and poise. While there were some stunning evening dresses and some outstanding legs shown in swimwear, the contest was still wide open going into the talent competition.

The talent was judged on timing and perfection. While many contestants used production numbers, they were judged solely on their performance and not on the ability of the group. While everyone had their favorites and there certainly were no second rate performances, I remember these as my favorites: Number 3, Dina Jacobs from Atlanta's Sweet Gum Head singing "Bring in the Clowns" in her own voice; Number 4, Tiny Tina from the Coyote Club in Ft. Lauderdale doing her Kate Smith rendition of "God Bless America"; Number 6, Dana Manchester from Tacky's in Lauderdale doing a moving performance of two songs about marriage and divorce; Number 7, Jennifer Dzhones and her group presenting a beautiful arabic production of Aladdin's Lamp with a gaint Genie; Number 8, Barbara Lake from Rene's

Lounge in Tampa leading a lively group of performers through several Busby-Berkley numbers in a salute to the roaring twenties; Number 11, Donna Rose from Orlando's Parliament House doing a great production of "I was Born in a Trunk"; Number 17, the Lady Shawn from the Sweet Gum Head doing "The Way We Were" with dancer Jody Paramore; Number 19, Tina Marie from the KiKiKi in Tampa doing a beautiful production of the Manhattan Transfer singing "Operator, Give me Jesus on the Line.."; Number 22, Hot Chocolate and her four dancers doing their version of Disco Fever (Hot Chocolate came out in a gorilla suit and the whole group stripped in stages until they were dancing in shiny, brass colored bikinis); and number 25, Tina Christie of Dynamite 75 in Hialeah who came out in a sedan chair carried by four hunkie bar on Forrest Road. The Tower and the Home Plate Restaurant are both popular hangouts for all of these teams.

While the Southern Furys are a higher skilled team, Atlantis is new and upcoming. This is the second year for the Tower Hotshots. The word is that last year they learned the game and this year they are playing the game. The Tower Rebels are a new team this year. Some of the team members came from a disbanded ERA team. Phyllis Fountain, popular bartender at the Tower is their coach and Kathy Williams is their regular pitcher. Other outstanding players for the Rebels include Ellen Montgomery, a short fielder, Debbie Miller who is a good utility player (she can play any spot) who usually plays centerfield and Molly Taylor, their shortstop. While the Rebels have lost more than they have won so far, they feel they are getting their act together and hope to improve that record as the season progresses. Again the word is that the Hot Shots are a competitive out-front team (an out-front team is one which makes no secret that its players are gay), while the Rebels are a competitive out-back team (an out-back team is one where all of the team members don't admit to being gay).

The girls invest a lot of time as well as money for uniforms, etc. and most of them get a big kick out of playing. Whether you like to participate as a player or a spectator, they invite you to come out.

THE Mr. Gay ALabama CONTEST

Jim Gray, Mr. Gay Alabama

The Rainbow Lounge in George Wallace's home town of Montgomery Alabama was the scene of the 1976 Mr. Gay Alabama Contest. A large crowd was on hand on Saturday night, May 22nd to see several hunky numbers compete for the honors. Competition was in four categories, Casual (street) Wear, Sports Wear, Evening Wear and Swimsuit. The prizes consisted of $200, $100 and $50 for the winner and two runners-up respectively, plus trophies and a $25 Bar Tab for the winner. Chuck Todd (better known by his drag name, Melody Minyon) was the MC and did as good a job of entertaining the audience out of drag as he does in. The five judges selected Jim Gray, sponsored by Atlanta's Locker Room and Hollywood Hot as the winner. Tommy Barr sponsored by The Rainbow in Montgomery was First Runner-Up and Lee Reardon sponsored by The Gizmo in Birmingham was Second Runner-Up. Raymond and Tom of The Rainbow are now planning this contest as an annual event at their club.

run a ten minute special where drinks are only $.65. And on a recent Saturday night I ran into the ultimate special there, free drinks. I don't know who was buying but someone was setting up the whole bar. Lloyd tells me that this is not unusual.

I was in Mrs. P's just before Memorial Day Weekend and ran into all those butch bikers in town for the big run called The Dogwood. Bernice said there were 312 people signed up including 3 from England. 22 had ridden in from Dallas on their bikes.

There's lots more to tell but I'm out of space. But before I go I wanted to mention that new game called "Gay Stripdown". I just got a set and haven't had time to try it out yet but it looks like lots of fun. I'll tell you about it next month. Till then, Keep On Cruising.

Winners at Phyllis Killer's 8th Annual Oscar Awards included Daisey Dalton (Best Actress); Mickey Martin (Best Supporting Performer), Hot Chocolate (Entertainer of the Year), Mickey Day (Best Performance in a Special), Kelley (Discovery of the Year), Leigh Shannon (Most Original Performer), Rachel Wells (Director of the Year), R. C. Cola (Male Lead), Lavita Allen (Best Comedy Performer), Lisa King (Mary Pickford Award), and Mayor Maynard Jackson (the Cecile B. Demille Award).

numbers and who danced off down the runway and came back with a giant boa constrictor snake. I also thought number 26, Naomi Sims of Producers' in Jacksonville was outstanding with her medley of "Thoroughly Modern Millie", "Second Hand Rose" and "Mame".

The show was further enhanced by the appearance of the last three winners of the Miss Florida title. Emore DuBois performed early in the show while the dynamic Roxanne Russell arrived out of the ceiling on a cloud that said "The Last Goddess" and took the crowd by storm. The reigning Miss Florida, Noly Greer made a final appearance just before the winner was announced.

The Billie Boots Humanitarian Award was presented by Miss Billie Boots to "Tubby Boots". Since Tubby could not be present, Sonny of Tacky's accepted it for him. The Miss Congeniality Award went to Tina Tiny for the second year in a row.

It took quite a while for the judges scores to be tabulated and the eight finalist announced. Brick Mason was kept busy trying to keep the restless crowd entertained until the results were known. Then they were brought back for the final competition, a question.

If there was a let down in the show it was this anticlimatic phase with questions which I felt were a little too difficult for entertainers who had just finished doing their best in the talent competition, and who were so excited they couldn't really concentrate. By my count only three of the eight actually answered the question they were asked. But the others managed to keep their cool and fake an answer and I guess that went over all right with the judges since none of the three were among the winners. The score on the question was suppose to be added to the score on the talent competition to give the final score and it's possible that they all scored so low on the question, that it didn't affect the outcome.

While almost every contestant was a possible winner one could not deny the talent and beauty shown by the winners.

So now the fifth Miss Gay Florida Pageant is history and we wonder where this World Series of Dragdom will go next. With such an array of talent and such a demand to see it I can't help but see it becoming a week long event like the Miss America Pageant with possibly fifty original contestants being narrowed down through the week to a group of ten to fifteen who would perform on the final night before fifty thousand screaming fans in the Orange Bowl while the nation watches on network TV. It sounds a little wild, but then in 1972 who would have thought Miss Florida Female Impersonator of 1976 would have been crowned in the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Big production numbers were put on by several contestants. Among the best were the Ultra Hot Chocolate (top) doing Disco Fever backed up by four great looking male dancers; Donna Rose (center) and a large cast doing Judy Garland favorites; and Jennifer Dzhone (below) and company presenting Aladdin's Lamp.

Cruise Guide

TO OUT-OF-TOWN RESTAURANTS, LOUNGES, DISCOS, SHOW BARS, BATHS, BOOK STORES and other Businesses who welcome the patronage of gay people.

NOTE: One of the prime objectives of CRUISE is to provide its readers with current up-to-date listings that are accurate. Therefore we do not list any establishment until we have had a chance to visit them personally, meet the owners and/or managers and observe the crowd that comes there. And we will continue to list these places only as long as we hear from them on a regular basis giving us up-to-date information on their hours, their entertainment and special events. For these reasons we may not list every gay establishment in every city in the South. This is only the second month of this program to list these establishments in towns other than Atlanta so our list is still far from complete. We are planning trips to other cities in the South in the next couple of months and will add listings as fast as we can.

Establishments are listed alphabetically by State, City and Name.

North Carolina

NOTE: There are no mixed drinks sold in bars in North Carolina. While a few gay bars sell beer only, most are Private Clubs. In these it is legal for members to bring their own bottle (commonly called Brown Bagging) and purchase set-ups. However you must be 21 to brown bag. The charges for membership vary and are given under the individual listings. State law also regulates the time at which they must stop selling beer (currently 2 AM every night) and the time at which all liquor must be out of the club (currently 2:30 AM). However they can stay open later and some do. If the closing time is not stated below you can assume they close at 2:30.

CRUISE

Employee of the Month

JIM GRAY OF THE ATLANTA LOCKER ROOM

It was just one year ago, in June of 1975, that Jim Gray came to Atlanta. Jim who graduated Magna Cum Laude from the University of Tennessee in 1974 spent a year in law school there and then decided he wanted to take some time off, have a little fun and see a little more of the country before he settled down to a serious career.

Since that time his has become a familiar face to many gay people from Atlanta and elsewhere. Many of us first met him at The Locker Room where he went to work shortly after coming to Atlanta. He is still employed there and is now the manager. His picture has appeared in a number of Locker Room ads and more recently he has displayed some of his talent as one of Hot Chocolate's back-up dancers and while competing in the Mr. Sweet Gum Head and Mr. Gay Alabama contests. He was the winner at both.

Jim grew up in Oak Ridge, Tennessee which he tells us is the Nuclear Energy Capital of the World. He was on the swimming team at UT, participated in theater groups there and was President of the Young Democrats Club (his major was in Political Science). He stills considers swimming, entertaining and politics his hobbies but it looks like he might be making entertaining a career if he doesn't get back into law and politics. In case you're interested, he says he likes his men tall and muscular.

Next Month In CRUISE

THE HUSTLERS OF ATLANTA,
FLORIDA'S GAY RESORTS
and
THE BEACHES OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Last winter the Atlanta police, armed with a new anti-loitering law almost put Atlanta's street hustlers out of business. But with the return of warm weather they are back but, as in any business, they have had to adjust to new conditions. In July CRUISE interviews several of Atlanta's more successful hustlers in order to give our readers an inside look at the current male version of the world's oldest profession.

While the past year in Atlanta has been the year of fabulous new bars, in Florida it has been the year of new gay resorts. Of course Florida has had gay motels for years but now the trend is to complete gay entertainment complexes built around a hotel or motel. On a recent trip to Florida CRUISE visited five of these, The Wedgewood Inn in St. Petersburg, The Riveria Hotel in Daytona, The Parliament House Complex in Orlando, the Marlin Beach Hotel in Ft. Lauderdale and the Windward Resort Motel. Next month we will give you details on what each is doing to attract the gay vacationer.

And CRUISE goes to North Carolina to check out the action in Wilmington, a popular gay beach resort there. All this along with listings of more out-of-town clubs and all our regular features. Don't miss the big Bi-Centennial Issue of CRUISE.

GEMINI

GEMINI

May 22 - June 21

A few unexpected events occur that may lead to a promotion at work. A beneficial partnership is now possible with that very handsome lover of yours though there might be some questions regarding possession. Faith in yourself and in him will break the barrier. You will benefit more if you re-organize your working environment. Center your psychic vision.

CANCER

June 22 - July 22

ORGANIZE your work habits and observations so that that new venture into capitalism may pay off. Taurus is kind to you this month. Easy on the lust department . . . watch your money instead!

LEO

July 23 - August 23

Home life again in question. Your emotional state of mind is causing you to question motives. Cool it friend. Be a loner this month. You're going to shine next month, so hang in there!

VIRGO

August 24 - September 23

Your keen sense of analysis will be called into use this month possibly in relation to ego problems with your boss. You just may end up with a raise. A Leo may become very close to you this month.

LIBRA

September 24 - October 23

Recognize EACH moment, dude. This month offers you the chance to make many IMPORTANT decisions so don't balk. Your psychic powers increase with experiences in the paranormal toward the last of the month.

SCORPIO

October 24 - November 22

A past love relationship has gravely wounded you. Let GO of it or you will attract many negative vibrations. A social affair will offer the chance to meet a spiritual companion. This might develop further.

By LANCE

SAGITTARIUS

November 23 - December 21

Your "Unconventional" ways may anger the boss. This might cause you to be transferred at work thus causing mental strain. Bring order into your habits. A social journey is likely this month.

CAPRICORN

December 22 - January 20

You will notice a 'new-replacing-old' change in personality and attitudes. Its growth must NOT be resisted. Help from Virgo temperament woman this month as well as psychic and monetary honors.

AQUARIUS

January 21 - February 18

Your dealings with those negative friends will destroy parts of you. Use your native intuition and drop them! Or risk them DRAINING you of everything!

PISCES

February 19 - March 20

Watch for momentary depressions in the month ahead. Act on positive marital vibrations and you'll be riding out the month on a High A!

ARIES

March 21 - April 20

Due to that damn ram-headedness you are on your way to a real knock-down-drag-out with that Scorpio-temperament person. Seek advice from a Lunar friend and try, TRY to stay calm and cool.

TAURUS

April 21 - May 21

The word for you this month is LOVE. You will be given the chance to review your feelings for that person nearest to you. Questions on financial matters must be considered. Keep that stiff neck limber and you will achieve at least mild success at the last of the month.
