6 CHAT

Ellen DeGeneres had second thoughts about coming out, while Michael Stipe seems to claim he never has. Plus, frequent flyers don't get to see women kiss in The Hours, while the movie's bi director becomes a dad.

10 TUBE

Cable network Bravo goes gay with two new reality series — one in which queens preen over straight men, and one where a straight gay may be the perfect date for a gay man. Are gays finally mainstream?

stated his approval for the pairing, although he is rumored to have warned Kutcher, "Kiddo, if you don't behave you'll have me chasing you."

Moore is reportedly upset that the star of That '70s Show has become something of a gay icon. A source close to the actress told a British tabloid, "Ashton was already a gay icon because of his boyish good looks. Now he's the number one pin-up boy in every homosexual bar, magazine and talk show in America. It's gone too far and Demi doesn't like it one little bit. She likes her guys to have the sort of red-blooded image that her ex-husband Bruce Willis flaunts in public." Ashton thinks it's a big joke — but she is making her distaste publicly known.

Director Stephen Daldry has become the proud father of his first child. Daughter Annabel Clare was born to the publicity-shy bisexual director, and wife Lucy Sexton, two months ago. The British director's child was born in the United States. Daldry, who is responsible for Oscar-winning film The

The island nation of Malta has issued stamps of Elton John to commemorate his concert there earlier this month. Four images of the flamboyant superstar were released as a one-sheet set on July 1. California Dreaming — The United Court of Austin gets crazy for Malibu — or rather, Malibu Barbie — with a beach party fund-raiser for the Wright House Wellness Center and Project Transitions, which support those Central Texans living with HIV/AIDS. Attendees are encouraged to come dressed as Ken, Barbie, Midge or any favorite creation; prizes will be awarded. It takes place at Dick's Deja Disco on Saturday, July 26 at 9 p.m. Admission

Grease Is The Word — Oh, those summer nights. Remember them again with a sing-a-long of the classic musical Grease at the Paramount Theatre on Saturday, July 26 at 8 p.m. It's more fun than just watching the movie — think Rocky Horror with poodle skirts — with costume contests, a stage show and audience participation. General admission is $20, which helps benefit Project Transitions. Call 512-454-8646 for more info.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) If you've got no plans for the weekend, don't worry, Cancer — a full moon on the 13th will make you extremely magnetic and popular. Last week's frustrations are over and done with. Increase your fluid intake to help that metabolism. An anxious co-worker could really use a few words of counsel.

Leo (July 23-August 22) How strange that while Cancer paints the town red, you may just want to sit this weekend out. Nothing wrong with taking a breather, Leo, although now there are no excuses for putting off that summer cleaning any longer. Your expertise saves the day on Tuesday. Wait until next month to shop for a new car.

Virgo (August 23-September 22) Lately it seems that finances have been either feast or famine, and that scenario isn't likely to change for another few weeks. Grab any job that you can and watch the budget carefully. Take a friend up on that blind date offer. Stress levels will be higher than usual on Monday, so prepare yourself.

Libra (September 23-October 22) You're feeling creative, dynamic and energized to the max — plus, you don't look too bad. So why have you been playing the role of lone wolf? Everyone needs some companionship, even Librans. Work on opening up that heart a bit more — real beauty lies inside of you.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) About 80 percent of this week's schedule will go exactly as planned, but almost nothing will turn out right on Wednesday. (You'll still come out ahead of the game.) Keep that wallet stapled to your pocket on Monday. Turmoil can be avoided for once by staying out of a sensitive family matter.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) You'll hit the ground running as the week begins and won't slow down until just before Labor Day. Take Sunday off to recharge. Otherwise, you'll be dragging all week long. Go shopping for odds and ends this weekend and you'll find some real treasures. Let your instincts guide you.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19) Business negotiations will move at a snail's pace, and might have you climbing the walls. Keep a calm exterior — the pace will pick up late next week. Use this time to find any tiny, hidden flows. A recent family event was only the start of a joyous time frame — news of a winter wedding delights you.

Aquarius (January 20-February 18) You'll be feeling totally energized and full of bright ideas leading up to Sunday's full moon, just don't expect to get much sleep — there's too much to do and so many people to see. That current flame sure is cute and not a bad kisser — could this be the soul mate you've been seeking? Only time will tell, but we certainly wouldn't rule it out.

Pisces (February 19-March 19) The fuller the moon, the more psychic/sensitive you tend to become, and this weekend will prove to be no exception. Avoid people who tend to drain you or bring you down. Take those dancing shoes out of mothballs and show the world what a twinkletoes you really are. Laughter abounds Saturday night.

Aries (March 20-April 19) Like last week, this one will feel much like an uphill fight, but with better overall results. Don't hesitate to delegate some of the more mundane chores to underlings. Treat yourself to a full body massage this weekend. An old love makes contact, and this stirr decidedly mixed emotions in you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) It's definitely a period of calm after the storm for the next three weeks. Your services will be in such demand that not everyone is likely to be seen. Don't fret, Taurus — there's always next week or next month. Don't spread yourself too thin, or that throat condition could flare up. Load up on the vitamin C and fluids.
