The green-thumbed singer and actress is a huge fan of the British TV show Ground Force, which is now a hit on cable channel BBC America. And so she set the TV gardeners, led by Alan Titchmarsh and Charlie Dimmock, the task of turning a small piece of reclaimed wasteland into an inner-city oasis.

She says, "I asked them to turn a pit into a paradise, and they came to transform the lot in honor of the fallen of 9-11. We're thrilled."

In just three days, the Ground Force experts transformed the site into a place where New Yorkers can gather their thoughts surrounded by pear trees, herbs and Midler's favorite plant, English ivy.

By the way, Midler may be winning points with New Yorkers, but she's not scoring so highly on the other side of the country.

A Los Angeles skincare boutique owner refuses to do business with her — because of Midler's diva-like demands.

According to a pal of The Divine Miss M, one of the star's staff members demanded that high-profile West Hollywood beautician Dawn DaLuise — who uses a rare electric-current process to make people's faces look younger — cancel the appointments of longtime clients to accommodate the first-timer Midler.

Although the request was refused, the minion reportedly returned a few days later and demanded $60 worth of DaLuise's homemade skincare balms — for free.

When asked by DaLuise why they should be handed over for free, the response was, "Because she is Bette Midler."

When that request failed, Midler's staff member returned a third time to ask for the same products at a cut-rate price of $18.

According to the Star tabloid, the minion was told in no uncertain terms that no one associated with Midler should ever set foot in the shop again.

A source says, "Bette has been doing this all over the city. It was about time that someone took a stand."

Lesbian funnywoman Ellen DeGeneres is writing a second book — and she's planning to release it to coincide with her new talk show.

The former Ellen star is writing a book of comic essays following the success of her debut tome, My Point ... And I Do Have One, which was a number one bestseller on The New York Times' non-fiction list.

She says, "Why write a second book, you ask? Because there are some words I didn't use in the first one."

The new book, currently untitled, will be published by Simon and Schuster in the fall of 2003, at the same time DeGeneres begins her talk show.

Madonna's co-star in her controversial new film, Swept Away, admits filming the love scenes filled him with loathing because they were so kinky and degrading to women.

Adriano Gianini plays the love interest to the pop queen's spoilt rich American in the film, directed by her husband, Guy Ritchie. The scenes shocked test audiences, who described them as misogynistic.

Gianini says, "It didn't come easy for me to slap a woman, especially someone I had grown up listening to. When I first slapped her, she thought it wasn't violent enough and told me to hit her harder."

"On another occasion, I was asked to humiliate her by making her bark like a dog. It got a bit masochistic, but she's good. She's very professional."

Gay Hollywood actor Rupert Everett has ruled out the chance of ever adopting children — because he doesn't like them. Everett claims children today are "totally unruly and really boring."

Everett, who starred with Madonna in The Next Best Thing, adds that he believes parents spend too much time "worshipping their kids" and then expect others to do the same thing.

Compared with traditional treatments requiring daily medications and a complex combination of topical treatments, researchers say ClearLight is much easier. In one published study, there was a 60 percent reduction in acne counts by eight weeks — and an even bigger decrease of 70 percent after two weeks of follow-up treatments.

The cost of this new laser treatment will probably be determined by how much insurance companies are willing to pay.

As always, I wish you the best in your quest for the best for yourself.

Fashion Disasters

The men's magazine FHM has released a list of the top 10 fashion disasters in the celebrity world and — heaven forbid! — a flaming queen is at the top.

You can thank Sir Elton John for shattering all those stereotypes about gay men being the hippest, coolest dressers. FHM says the gay British rocker is the biggest fashion disaster among male celebrities.

The "Candle in the Wind" star, often noted for his eye-catching, elaborate outfits, beat the likes of glove-toting pop singer Michael Jackson, wacky actor Nicolas Cage and all of boy band 'NSYNC to the dubious honor. FHM fashion writer Simon O'Connell observes, "The list of Elton's fashion mistakes would take weeks to read. From spangly suits to diamond tiaras, there appears to be no hope for the Rocket Man."

The full list of "winners" is as follows:

1. Sir Elton John
2. Arnold Schwarzenegger
3. Leonardo DiCaprio
4. Christian Slater
5. Nicolas Cage
6. 'N SYNC (all of 'em)
7. Jim Carrey
8. Michael Jackson
9. Russell Crowe
10. Billy Zane

by rev. bill w

Virgo (August 23-September 22) This week shouldn't be nearly as intense or chaotic as the last couple have been. A former love might try to re-enter your life. Be very sure of his intentions this time out. Try not to nit-pick over too many minor details at work. If you've got a legitimate grievance, let it be heard by everyone concerned.

Libra (September 23-October 22) It's going to be an incredibly fast-moving week in all areas of your life. Your ambitions and long-range goals appear to be right on target. Avoid coming off as too confrontational or stubborn, especially with superiors. Listening to what others have to say. You might actually learn a thing or two.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) Try to take a longer than usual weekend for that much deserved getaway. You're approaching the point of burnout and desperately need to recharge. Paperwork and countless phone calls may overwhelm you on Thursday. Be more patient with that new employee. Give him a fighting chance.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) Financial aspects continue to look solid as a rock and should continue that way for quite some time. That blind date could turn out to be something wonderful, so please accept it. Take Saturday off as a lazy day. Do nothing but fun stuff. Check up on an old friend who's been depressed.

Capricorn (December 22-January 18) Stick with tried and true methods for the time being. This is actually the worst time for experimenting with innovative ideas. Don't be shy or embarrassed about seeking out expert advice if it's needed. A tough choice made on Thursday unfortunately puts you in a temporary "no-win" situation, Cappy.

Aquarius (January 19-February 18) Sometimes just making a few small changes in our lives can make a world of difference. Be more spontaneous and go from the gut when making decisions. Don't automatically assume that a co-worker knows where you're coming from. Stay close to home Monday night to avoid a mini-mess.

Pisces (February 19-March 19) You ought to be a lot more persuasive than usual now — due to some terrific planetary aspects. Your imagination has kicked into a higher gear, which means anything can be created at this time. Being even-tempered and easy-going will bring you much more positive results (and reactions).

Aries (March 20-April 19) It could seem as if all of the puzzle pieces are finally fitting together this week, Aries (or at least most of them). Harmonious aspects will outnumber negative ones by a 3-to-1 margin. No major hassles appear to be on the horizon. The boss is quite pleased with your work and is finally heaping (overdue) praise.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Relocating at this time isn't the solution to your restless nature. Look for more of the riches and happiness in your own backyard for a change. You'll likely be more sensitive than usual this week, so try and keep that sense of humor intact. A lovely surprise on Wednesday makes the whole week worthwhile.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) Your energy levels are going to be off the charts for most of the week, Gemmy. People can't help but notice just how charismatic and upbeat you are. Don't allow trivial matters to dim that inner glow. Learn to laugh things off more often. Someone special, very cute and sweet is too shy to approach you.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) That recent career setback wasn't the end of the world, right? Work more on tapping into the creative side of your nature. Tuesday looks to be a low energy day, so don't push yourself too hard. Friday brings an unusual business proposal. Check out all the facts and try not to be blinded by the light.

Leo (July 23-August 22) Going out for a good time is all well and good, but don't try to indulge all of those appetites at the same time. That will drain your batteries in record time. Your intentions are the best, but sometimes people just don't care to be helped out — try not to take this personally. Sunday brunch will be a fun time.
