HAPPY BIRTHDAY MISS MONIQUE J.

of "Desert Rose" custom-tailored for Calderone to remix.

"It was the highlight of my career, going back into the studio with him," Victor recalls.

Calderone's also known for his own singles — something that grew naturally out of his remix work. "Are You Satisfied" was his virgin effort.

"That really wasn't a planned project. I was putting out another mixed compilation on Tommy Boy, and just when I was about ready to go in and mix the whole project, I decided we needed a new song on this compilation," Calderone explains. "I produced this 'tracky' dance cut and just took it a step further by calling this friend of mine, Deborah Cooper, and we sat down and wrote it out. She'd go into the booth and sing, then she'd come back and we'd write another few lines."

He's been very gratified with the response. Besides soaring sales, the single has been heard on Sex and the City and Queer As Folk. "It was really surprising to me how many people latched onto it," he says.

Victor moved into new territory last June, producing a circuit-style party in conjunction with New York's gay pride celebration.

"I'd traveled the world playing at events other people produced," he says. "And as an outsider, I could see some of the areas where they were slipping. So I just took the initiative, booked a space in Manhattan and planned it out myself."

He says he was able to achieve something great because, unlike other producers, his eyes weren't fixed on the bottom line.

"The reason for the event wasn't financial. I wasn't going to cut any corners. I didn't want to lose my shirt, but the object wasn't to make money. So I was able to do a lot more than most people," Calderone says with pride. "I went all out."

Despite all his success as a producer and remix artist, Calderone says he still feels most at home when he steps into the DJ booth at a premier dance emporium.

"I don't want to call DJing performing, but it's a real release for me. I enjoy the energy of the people," he says. "There's no feeling like getting that reaction from them. There's nothing like it, although I do enjoy my studio work, too."

Who should dance-floor fans keep their eyes on as up-and-coming talents?

"Well, there's one girl out of Miami who goes by the name of Ceevox. I think we're going to hear great things out of her," Victor says. "And as a producer, I've been really inspired by Thom Stefan's work. I think he's gonna be putting out some great stuff."

On Saturday, Calderone hits the DJ booth at Rich's in Houston, his first Texas appearance. What can fans expect?

"They can expect some really great new music and some energetic dancing," Victor says. "I'm definitely going to bring some energy there. That's what I enjoy most about my sets."

Victor Calderone spins at Rich's in Houston beginning at 10 p.m. on Saturday, October 20. Preview reception at 8 p.m. For information, visit www.richs-houston.com.

cyber Slick Trick

by gary n. reese

Here is a slick computer trick for hackers who invade your e-mail box. How do you know if hackers have invaded your computer and sent out messages with personal information about you to others and people you didn't intend to see any of your e-mail messages?

This trick is particularly applicable if you use Outlook or Outlook Express, or Internet Explorer to support your e-mail messages. But everyone should heed this.

When/if a worm virus gets into your computer, it heads straight for your e-mail address book and sends itself to everyone in there, thus infecting all your friends and associates.

This trick won't keep the virus from getting into your computer, but it will stop it from using your address book to spread further, and it will alert you to the fact that a worm has gotten into your system.

Here's what you do: first, open your address book and click on "New Contact," just as you would do if you were adding a new friend to your list of e-mail addresses. In the window where you would type your friend's first name, type in !000 (that's an exclamation mark followed by three zeros). Make sure that !000 is the first entry appearing in your address book. In the window below where it prompts you to enter the new e-mail address, type in WormAlert.

Then complete everything by clicking, add, enter, ok, etc. Now, here's what you've done and why it works: the "name" !000 will be placed at the top of your address book as entry #1.

This will be where the worm will start in an effort to send itself to all your friends. But when it tries to send itself to !000, it will be undeliverable because of the phony e-mail address you entered (WormAlert). If the first attempt fails (which it will because of the phony address), the worm goes no further and your friends will not be infected.

Here's the second great advantage of this method: if an e-mail cannot be delivered, you will be notified of this in your InBox almost immediately. Hence, if you ever get an e-mail telling you that an e-mail addressed to WormAlert could not be delivered, you know right away that you have the worm virus in your system. Then you better take steps to get rid of it!

It is very simple. Where I work for a multinational energy company, they have done this same thing 25 times to thwart virus invaders on their global e-mail system. You should do the same thing at home.

Leather Pride — Texas Leather Pride X, ordinarily scheduled each May, is set for November 1-4 this year, with events headquartered at the host hotel, the Four Points Hotel by Sheraton. The four-day event features an array of presenters including some of the top names in BDSM in Texas and across the nation. The silken-voiced Victoria Weston, who has appeared in New York City's top cabarets, also will perform. Periodic updates about the event are available at www.nla-austin.org/tlp/index.html, but the best way to stay up to date for the event is to join the National Leather Association-Austin's e-mail list at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/NLA-Austin>. You can select daily, daily digest or Web read only for delivery options.

Urban Beats — Circuit DJ Michael Tank of Rich's/Houston spins at The Forum 'til 4 a.m. on Saturday, October 20. And don't forget that Tuesdays are Urban Beats nights at the Forum, with the lovely Goldie Haynes appearing at midnight.

Fright Night — Next Saturday, October 27, comes one of gay Dallas' biggest events — the Halloween celebration and costume parade in (and around) the 3900 block of Cedar Springs Road. Presented annually by Caven Enterprises, this year's event is entitled, "Circus of Insanity" (and there's sure to be plenty of that!).

Party Weekend — At the Brick, it's Halloween Party Weekend next weekend with DJ Troy Sands spinning some of the city's hottest sounds on Saturday night, October 27.

Moody Blues — Mondays have been completely revamped at JR.'s Bar & Grill. Called Cool Blue Monday, the club features Edna Jean Robinson's "Mister Monday" show along with a Blue Menu, cool music and a new mood.

Double Tuna — Dallasites get a double dose of the wacky openly-gay duo Joe Sears and Jaston Williams as they bring their beloved characters from Tuna, Texas to the Majestic Theatre for two of their fables shows. Red, White and Tuna runs October 23-28, followed up by A Tuna Christmas November 6-11. Join these two as they present 24 characters from Tuna, Texas, the state's third-smallest town where even the Lion's Club is too liberal!
