Quick look inside

- 6 CHAT
Don't count on much gay action at this year's Oscars ceremony. Vanity Fair dishes to-die-for gossip about difficult diva Bette Davis. Yep, she will. Ellen DeGeneres will play a lesbian on her new sitcom.
- 10 FITNESS
Reader reads himself into symptoms of bi-polar depressive disorder and seeks advice and assistance. The short answer: sometimes you need to take a spa vacation devoted to bolstering your inner self.
- 12 BEAT
There are plenty of rotten DJ compilations out there, but two recent releases, by Terry Hunter and the legendary Lady Bunny, should definitely find a place in every serious dance-music lover's collection.
- 14 FEATURE
Forget about that other Latin pop superstar. Jade Esteban Estrada, a gay Texas native who spent most of his youth in San Antonio, has it all: looks, talent, a drag-queen title and a new CD entitled Angel.
- 16 FILM
The new Spanish film Nico and Dani poignantly captures the raging hormones that lead 17-year-old best friends down divergent paths.

Oscars offer slim pickin's for gay movie buffs

chat

It's that time of year again, when the gay world celebrates our equivalent of the Super Bowl. Oscar night always serves up a little magic for us, but unlike the ceremonies of the last several years, Sunday night's Academy Awards presentation will be severely lacking in gay subplots. About all we can look forward to is seeing last year's winner Hilary Swank, who took home the gold statuette for her wrenching portrayal of transgender murder victim Brandon Teena, take the podium to present the Best Actor award.

In that category is Javier Bardem, the handsome Spanish actor nominated for the role of persecuted gay Cuban poet and novelist Reinaldo Arenas in Before Night Falls. This isn't Bardem's first gay role — he also played gay in the 1999 Spanish film Second Skin and appeared in two films by the outrageous gay filmmaker Pedro Almodovar (High Heels and Live Flesh).

Unfortunately, Bardem isn't given much chance of winning. The odds-on favorite is Russell Crowe for Gladiator. The hunky Australian star does have a gay following, dating back to his starring role in the charming gay Australian film The Sum of Us. Tabloid reports also have Crowe stepping in to father the second child of his friend Jodie Foster, our favorite single mom!

In the Best Director category is openly-gay Stephen Daldry for Billy Elliot. The first-time director isn't expected to have much hope, going up against Steven Soderbergh, who is nominated for both Erin Brockovich and Traffic, as well as Ang Lee for Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon and Ridley Scott for Gladiator.

Billy Elliot, a hit with gay

audiences for its story of a pre-pubescent British cutie (Jamie Bell) who angers his coal-miner father by trading in his boxing gloves for ballet shoes, is also recognized, with nominations for Julie Walters as Best Supporting Actress and Lee Hall for Best Original Screenplay.

In the Documentary category is Long Night's Journey Into Day, which is not a gay film (it deals with South African apartheid) but was created by lesbian life partners Frances Reid and Deborah Hoffmann. The two filmmakers were also involved on the Oscar-winning documentary The Times of Harvey Milk.

Besides the lack of much of a gay angle on this year's Oscars, there's also much less suspense than usual. Julia Roberts, Benicio Del Toro and Kate Hudson are considered, along with Crowe, as shoo-ins for the major acting awards.

Speaking of the Oscars, don't miss the fab article about screen legend and difficult diva Bette Davis in the April issue of Vanity Fair. Davis claimed to have coined the term "Oscar" in honor of her first husband's ass! (His name was Harmon Oscar Nelson Jr.)

VF's much-hyped "Hollywood" issue, which has 430 pages (mostly ads) and feels like a bowling ball, features "The Devil In Miss Davis" — a first-person account by Hollywood producer William Frye. Frye was chummy with Davis for a while (she eventually froze him out) and escorted her to the Oscars in 1963, the year she was nominated for What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?

Frye tells the tale of how livid Davis was that night when her nemesis Joan Crawford, also nominated for Baby Jane, stole the evening despite the fact that both actresses lost. Crawford, says Frye, had arranged with Anne Bancroft — nominated for The Miracle Worker but unable to attend the Oscars because she was doing a play in New York — to accept the award on her behalf if she won. When La Belle Crawford, as Davis derisively called her, ascended the stage decked out in a stunning beaded silver gown designed by Edith Head especially for the occasion, Davis seethed, knowing that people would see the next morning's newspapers with photos of Crawford clutching Bancroft's Oscar and assume she'd won it for Baby Jane.

"Let's get out of here!" Davis said loudly to Frye, making a speedy exit from the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium before the ceremony had ended. Davis wanted to go home, but Frye persuaded her to make an appearance at a post-Oscar party at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. There, Davis prepared a tall glass of scotch and said, "This is for La Belle Crawford." When reminded that Crawford's preferred poison was vodka, Davis shot back, "I don't care what she drinks. This is going into her fucking face."

Alas, Crawford wisely avoided going anywhere near Davis' table, and after a while Davis left the party, announcing, "I refuse to be in the same room with her. I don't care how big the room is."

The Davis entourage ended up at her house, where she was preparing scrambled eggs and toast for her guests when Frye made the mistake of saying, "Well, you have to admit, when Crawford came out on that stage, with that dress and that array of diamonds, she did look like the movie star of all time."

Enraged, Davis stopped slicing bread and came at Frye with the knife!

It's official. Ellen DeGeneres' character on her upcoming CBS sitcom will be a lesbian. Ellen will play an openly-gay city girl who finds herself moving home to live with her mom and sister in the small town where she grew up (shades of Ellen's own life — she spent her high school years in the East Texas town of Atlanta). Cloris Leachman is expected to play the mom. Ellen, Again, which boasts former Seinfeld writer Carol Leifer as its creator, is expected to premier in the fall.

Gossip maven Liz Smith was one of the honorees at the recent Texas Film Hall of Fame Awards in Austin. The Fort Worth native was introduced by her buddy, former Texas Guv Ann Richards. Always good for a laugh, Richards said that since last year's release of Smith's memoir, Natural Blonde (in which she wrote matter-of-factly about her history of lesbian liaisons), Smith seems to be everywhere, "like horse manure at a rodeo!" The next night Smith and Richards held court at Austin's Zachary Scott Theater Center. As Smith wrote in her syndicated column, "Ann and I are mulling doing a radio show called Two Old Texas Broads Talking. But first we have to figure out how to get two old broads together in the same broadcast venue."

Pamela Anderson has always had female, as well as male, admirers, but one fan recently got a little too friendly for the former Baywatch babe's taste. A French woman named Christine Roth was found sleeping in one of the beds in Anderson's Malibu, California, home on March 4. Last week, a judge ordered Roth to return to France and barred her from re-entering the U.S. without the permission of immigration officials.

Gorgeous British actor Jude Law has no illusions about the power of nude scenes, reports People magazine. "Face it, I didn't become a star until I took my clothes off for The Talented Mr. Ripley," he said. Law, 28, also got naked in the 1995 Broadway play Indiscretions. "Frankly, being naked in plays is far more horrifying because those theaters are always so chilly," he said.

This e-mail was sent to me just this morning. It brought me to tears. I thought if it moved me so much, perhaps it would move someone in need to reach out for help.

Dear Michael,

I picked up this magazine a couple of Fridays ago... and I came across your article on depression.

This really shocked me because those nine signs of bipolar depression are exactly what I have been feeling and going through for a couple of weeks now. The other sad part is that most of the 10 signs for general depression itself I am also feeling and going through. I thought of seeking help through a therapist, because I do not believe in medication or pills. The only reason I have not looked for help yet is because I am hoping to find someone who is open minded to the gay lifestyle before I sit down and talk to him or her.

I am a 34-year-old Puerto Rican man who comes from a family of 13 children. I was born next-to-last. Most people would guess that I am about 25. I am height/weight proportionate and I work out 3-4 times weekly. Most people who meet me think that I am very attractive and wonder why I am single. This is where my problems come in.

I have very low self-esteem. I feel I am not worth anything to anyone. I always feel that my workouts are not working for me because I do not look like I want to look. I feel I am the ugliest thing on earth. I have very high standards for what a friend should be, so for this reason I have no real true friends. I have no one to talk to and no one to do anything with.

I hate myself. I hate my life. I have felt this way since I was young. This is nothing new. I feel unloved and unwanted. I think that if I were dead no one would really miss me. I cry for no reason. I hardly sleep at all. I don't know how to rest or relax. I find myself with no energy to do any work around my house. I am constantly thinking about nothing but depressing things about my life.

I often ask God to please take my life, since I do not see the worth of living it. I am trying to join clubs and organizations around my area so I can meet new people and see if maybe what is missing in my life are people. I close everyone and everything out. I am always jealous of what others have and I do not. I feel empty and lost inside, and I feel like I am a zombie for most of my life.

My sister, who is a counselor and studied psychology, has told me that most of this stems from our large family upbringing. We could never amount to anything in our family to anyone. No matter what we did, it was not good enough. Sometimes I find I am killing myself at the gym and everyone tells me what a great body I have — but I simply don't see it. I feel I need to work out more. I need to lose more on the belly. It is really weird. I have a 29/30 waist and yet I feel I have a gut still.

I now feel that everything is coming down hard and crashing on me. I decided that I need to get away so I am going to vacation soon. I feel I need a getaway. My sister tells me that it does not matter where I go because, "Where ever you go, there you are!"

I know I need help. I just need you to write back and tell me what to do. Tell me a bit about those 800 numbers in the article. Are they people who are open minded? I may need to talk to someone about my gay life also and I don't want them to be offended or judge me for that. Will they connect me to someone in my area?

Anything you could do would be greatly appreciated even if you can be an ear at the end of this e-mail to just listen to me. I need a friend badly — one who will listen and advise rather than judge and crucify. You are my only hope right now. Please help.

Yours truly (depressed),

R

Dear R,

I am forever grateful that you chose to trust me. You must know that there are others out there who will not judge you and who will listen to you with humility.

I am not sure where in your area you can go for help, but first, you must, if you are ever in crisis, call the crisis lines I gave you in the previous issue.

Then, why not consider your time on vacation as a way for you to do an internal makeover on yourself? People go away for a week of spa treatments, take facials, massages, etc. Why not entrust yourself to a therapist who could work with you daily and get you moving in the right direction of internal house cleaning?

I am sure you could find a therapist who could help you with love and compassion. If you can't I can recommend very qualified people.

Please let me know your progress and remember this—

We all have this one thing in common: We all have a soul, and it is there, residing inside of you, whether you can see it or not. Yours gives you beauty unlike anyone else on this earth.

I'll bet that you are a beautiful man on the outside and beautiful on the inside with a beautiful soul. Find your way back to that beauty.

I wish the best success finding your way home.

Go for it!

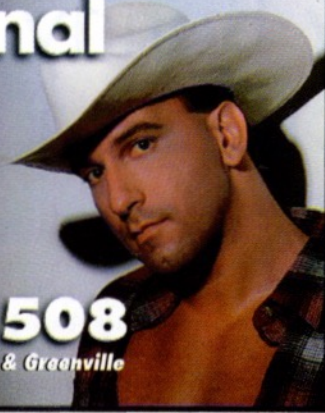

Michael

You know I'm the first to recommend a good old girl-twirl CD. There's something about a clever HI-NRG mix that just takes me back to the gory days of Sylvester, Pamala Stanley and the like, you know?

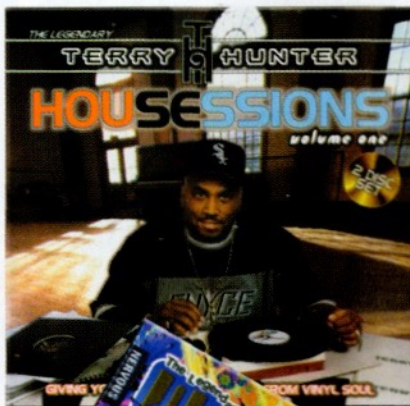

As you've probably gathered lately, I'm a bit weary of all these mix compilations. Let's face it. There's a lot of junk out there. Well, there are a couple of mix CDs I need to tell you about for the simple fact that they have barely left my CD player this week, except to switch them out.

From Georgie Porgie's Music Plant label in Chi-town, here comes the Terry Hunter compilation Houssessions Volume 1. This is special 2-CD set of Music Plant favorites like "Life Goes On" (Georgie Porgie), "On the Dance Floor" (Richard Rogers) and Terry's own classic, "Sweet Music." On disc one are all the "Filter Disco" mixes, the new style of music that's currently sweeping the nation. And on disc two are all the soulful remixes by Terry. If you've never had the opportunity to hear Terry spin, you are missing out. My first time was about five years ago at The Crobar in Chicago, and I've been a fan ever since. Grab this 2-CD set and you'll more than likely become one as well.

Long live the Queen! I'm talking Pan Stick, hun. The folks over at Nervous Records have teamed up with the goddess-like Lady Bunny, and the result is the new Wigstock CD, mixed by NYC cutie-pie Steve Travolta.

To truly appreciate this compilation, you need to understand the whole Wigstock phenomenon. About 17 years ago a bunch of drunken partygoers staggered out of Pyramid to Thompkins Square Park to continue partying. If you remember the good old days when we used to do the same thing in Dallas at Reverchon Park, then I'm sure you can relate. The next thing you know, Bunny had gone out and secured permits, ordered up a sound system and convinced a few local dragoons to perform — and the first Wigstock was born.

Today, the annual event draws thousands of revelers from all over the world, not to mention top performers like Deborah

Harry, the B-52's, Crystal Waters and many more. And that's what this CD is all about. Bunny has pulled together tracks from various artists who have appeared at the event — tracks like Barbara Tucker's "Beautiful People," Byron Stingily's "Get Up," Taana Gardner's "Work That Body," CeCe Peniston's "Nobody Else" and loads more.

No doubt this one will have you looking through your own closet for that special wig contraption of your own (don't try it, bitch, I know you have a wig!) and you'll be prancing around the living room in full regalia before you know it. (And don't try to say you've never done it before, either. Like it or not, we're all drag queens waiting to happen.)

Seriously, Wigstock is a safe bet for any CD collection. It's filled with clever morsels, both new and old — a classic!

On the album front — you must, must, must get the new Daft Punk album, Discovery. This dynamic duo has spent the last two years in the studio getting this album together. I'm sure you already know "One More Time." But that's really only the tip of the iceberg for this album. Wait until you hear "Digital Love," soon to be a party favorite. "Harder, Better, Stronger, Faster" also promises to be huge.

"High Life" will have your hands in the air. There's even some down-tempo stuff in "Something About us." Check out "Short Circuit" if you liked the Herbie Hancock tracks in the '80s. This one totally revisits that whole thing, and it's quite clever. To say that they've outdone themselves would be an understatement. I can hardly wait for all the dance mixes now!

And that's the beats this week.

While Ricky Martin's sexuality remains a topic of much speculation, there is a new Latin pop artist who is out, proud and ready to take on the world. His name is Jade Esteban Estrada, he's 27, single, and he was born and raised (for the most part) in San Antonio.

The New York-based singer has done a little of everything — from performing as a drag queen and a go-go boy in gay clubs to emceeing international beauty pageants, doing stand-up comedy and working as a choreographer and lead dancer for the one and only Charo. But with his recent CD, entitled Angel (Vicarious Records), Estrada has signaled his entry into the current Latin pop music craze.

"It's really interesting — my career has been really multifaceted," said Estrada last week during a phone interview from Minnesota, where he was performing and presenting the keynote speech at a gay political conference. "Whenever I've gone from one genre to another, I've completely immersed myself in that world for a while. Everything has had its time in my life, and then I've been able to move on without feeling the need to go back."

Even before his debut full-length CD came out in the U.S. last month (after first being released in England and Australia), Estrada had already captured the media's attention. Especially the gay media: Out magazine called him "the first gay Latin star" while Genre labeled him "the diva of Latin pop." He performed at 16 gay pride celebrations last year, and while dance mixes from the album are yet to be finished, he has already been booked for appearances in gay clubs from

As a little boy growing up in San Antonio, Estrada fantasized about being a pop star.

"I wanted to be just like George Michael," he says. "You know how in your life you remember just snippets of time? I remember walking in our back yard — I think I was sweeping the patio — and I remember thinking, 'I don't know how I'm going to do it, but I'm going to be a composer and a singer just like George Michael.' It's taken a long time to get there, and there have been many diversions, but I don't think I could be the performer that I am now if I hadn't done all these other things."

Estrada's father was in the military, so part of his childhood was spent moving around — from Colorado, New Mexico and Kentucky to upstate New York, Alabama and Tennessee — but the family always returned to San Antonio. He was surrounded by Tejano music and strongly influenced by it, but he always knew he was destined for pop.

with a laugh. "They were doing Cabaret at my school and I didn't get the lead. They offered me this dancing part — I was a really good dancer early on — and I remember I was so offended at the time. I was just a little diva. I was like, 'No!' Then I got the lead in a city play like a week later."

Born Rey Armand Esteban Estrada, he took the name Jade in his early teens.

"I guess people get really disappointed that it's not a really interesting story," he says, "but I was watching a rerun of Fame on TV. It was like 2 a.m. and I was dozing off and there was a commercial that came on. It said, 'You can have these diamond rings for $19.95 if you call now. . . . Then at the very end of the commercial, they said really fast, 'Also available in jade.' I went, 'Oh my God, that's my name!'"

After graduating from high school, he went straight to the Big Apple, winning a scholarship to the American Musical and Dramatic Academy. Completing the two-year program in a year in Minneapolis last year. He also spent some time in Japan working at Ocean Dome (the world's largest indoor water park), singing American pop songs in Japanese. Trying his hand at stand-up comedy, in 1994 he won a contest as Funniest Amateur Comic in New York.

Then there's the beauty pageant thing. In 1999, Estrada was invited to sing at the Miss Mondo Latina International pageant in Toronto, which led to emceeing and performance gigs at pageants such as Miss Montana USA, Junior Miss, Miss Black World and Miss Latina U.S.A. In the process, he earned the nickname "Prince of Pageantry."

Back in his drag days, Estrada was a pageant winner himself! Returning home to San Antonio in 1997, he won Miss Fiesta Metroplex.

Which brings us to Estrada's colorful coming out story. While he had come out to select family members and friends, his parents didn't find out until he appeared in drag on the Jerry Springer show.

mother and sister.

"I go back to Texas a lot because there's such a huge Hispanic population, so there's always some place for me to go perform," says Estrada, who is booked for an appearance in Amarillo next month.

So far, Estrada's sexuality has not been a roadblock to his success.

"Through what I'm doing, I'm proving that I can do this, and that enough time has passed that sexuality is no longer an issue," he says. "I have my finger dipped in three different markets — mainstream, Latin, and the GLBT market, which is also my home. One of the good things about having my own label is that I don't have to answer to anybody. I can do what I want."

And what does he think about that other Latin pop star?

"What are you asking me?" Estrada responds coyly. "No, I love Ricky Martin. Our paths have crossed several times. The Latin market is so incestuous — it's so small that we have all worked

la Vida OUT!

Openly gay Texas native Jade Esteban Estrada bursts onto the Latin pop music scene

"My family is into the Tejano culture," he says, "but as my generation was growing up, at least in my circles, it was something that we shunned. We wanted to become more one with Americana — to be with what was happening with American pop music rather than listening to what our parents listened to," Estrada says.

He sang in his school choir and became involved in community theater.

"I never really did the high school drama thing, because by the time I got into high school, I was already doing community theater, so I kind of looked down at it at the time," he remembers and a half, he headed for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he spent the better part of a year dancing on cruise ships. He returned briefly to San Antonio to do a play, then headed back to New York. He eventually worked in Europe, joining the touring company of a George Gershwin musical revue and also performing in a German production of Andrew Lloyd Weber's Starlight Express. (Estrada's bio claims he has performed in seven different languages in 25 different countries!)

He met the legendary Charo in Hawaii and has worked with her off and on ever since, most recently putting together a show for her

"If you're gonna do it, why not go on Jerry Springer?" he says. "This was during the mid-'90s, when the show wasn't what it is now. And being a New Yorker who didn't have time to watch TV, I just thought, 'Who watches this stupid show?' I did get paid, so for me it was just a job and a free vacation. The next thing I know, the whole world sees me and my phone never stops ringing."

Unfortunately, he has been estranged from his father ever since, although he maintains a good relationship with his mother, who now lives in Albuquerque, N.M. He still returns frequently to San Antonio to visit his grand-with the same people. He's very shy, and he's a very sweet guy."

But who cares about him? Now we have our very own out Ricky Martin, and his name, if you don't know it by now, is Jade Esteban Estrada.

Nico and Dani

Grade: A

In Spanish with English surtitles
Not Rated

Directed by: Cesc Gay

Starring: Fernando Ramallo, Jordi Vilches, Marieta Orozco, Esther Nubiola and Chisco Amado

Nico and Dani opens today at Landmark's
Dobie Theatre in Austin. Coming
April 6 to Regal Cinemas Crossroads 6 in San Antonio, and May 25 to Landmark's Greenway Cinema in Houston.

This week, I begin my film review with a moment of candid self-disclosure. When I was 12 years old, I lived for the weekends. But unlike the other boys who longed for Saturdays playing football, softball and other complicated sports (for the homosexually-challenged like me), I couldn't wait for the time to come when my best friend would spend the night.

After my parents would go to bed, we'd curl up in our sleeping bags and watch TV. But somewhere around the time "Live from New York!" was being shouted on Saturday Night Live, we'd be full swing into our mutual nude massages. But I think we both enjoyed those for completely different reasons because to this very day, he's undeniably straight. And I can't watch SNL without getting a little aroused. But that's a different story altogether.

So, other than saving $150 on a therapy session, my story actually fits right into the theme of the Spanish export, Nico and Dani. Every summer, Nico (Jordi Vilches) visits his best friend Dani (Fernando Ramallo) for a couple weeks of hunting, fishing, going to the beach and sleeping under the stars. This year, however, the boys are 17 and their hormones have plans of their own for how the summer's going to be spent.

Things are first complicated when Elena (Marieta Orozco) and her cousin Berta (Esther Nubiola) take a deeply flirtatious interest in the boys. (Cue spontaneous erections). Innocent and naive, the boys respond to the strange feelings the girls are evoking (as I'm sure all straight males do) by giving each other hand jobs while thinking of the appropriate cousin.

It isn't long, however, before Dani realizes that touching Nico comes all too naturally, trading his friendship for deeper feelings. With Dani's parents vacationing in Egypt, their home becomes a sexual laboratory where drugs, alcohol and condoms create an irresistible-but-confusing concoction for the two young men. But even though their sexual awakenings are practically simultaneous, their desires lead them in completely different directions, threatening to destroy their treasured relationship.

Now, I must admit that I thought this film was going to be completely forgettable from the bland synopsis I read. But it's actually one of the most honest portrayals of adolescence that's ever been filmed, especially one from a gay perspective. And I'm not just feeling that because of my strong identification with Dani.

The entire film is artfully composed by director Cesc Gay, a remarkable feat for only his second feature film. But the true genius of Nico and Dani is the casting. Lead stars Ramallo and Vilches (both of whom are unbelievably over 20 years old), have such natural chemistry that it's hard to believe they aren't best buds in real life. But I guess that's why they're up on the big screen and I'm sitting in front of an iMac.

There is a bit of bad news for Nico and Dani, however. It's going to be hard to find. Without more publicity, it could completely slip under your gaydar. But with any luck, good word of mouth will convince the art house owners to hang on to this gem longer than a week while it finds its audience.

Because, quite frankly, it's time to bump the overrated Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon out of theaters and into video stores to make room for the gay folk.

Nico (Jordi Vilches, left) and Dani (Fernando Ramallo), 17-year-old friends spending the summer together, respond in quite different ways to the overtures of a pair of female cousins.

What really went down in Florida?

The Florida
Erection shows that politics and sex make excellent bedfellows

by butch harris

If you, like me, enjoy the Three P's — porn, politics and parody — you're going to love this hilarious account of our nation's darkest moment. No, not the Monica Lewinsky scandal (as many Republicans would have you believe), but the "selection" of George W. Bush as the 43rd president of the United States. The Florida Erection does a great job of telling a fictionalized account of what (and who) went "down" in Florida.

Our history lesson begins with Dillon Pierce (boy-next-door, brunet, big cut cock, nice ass, large mouth), an election ballot truck driver, being pulled over by policeman — or Jeb Gush operative? — Enrico Vega (handsome, Latin, big uncut cock, bushy mustache). Vega demands that Dillon show him his cargo and then demands a blowjob as well. On his knees, Dillon gives "one for the Gipper" and hungrily chows down. Vega, not to be outdone by a Democrat, gives Dillon's equipment a good licking before shoving a condom-covered nightstick up Dillon's hole. Dillon heaves his glorious ass up and down on the black stick before pumping a load onto the stacks of ballots in the back of the van — and then Vega splatters the ballots with gobs of goo, too.

The drenched ballots become the "chad problem" of the real election, and Lance Landers (tall, handsome, military tattoos, huge cock) and Brandon James (pretty boy, medium build, thick cock) discuss how the disputed ballots cannot be counted given their stickiness (some of the punch holes are partially or fully blocked). They quickly decide that they would rather suck cock than figure out what to do with the ballots, so Brandon drops to his knees to reveal the enormous penis that belongs to Lance. It's an impressive slab of meat (10-plus inches, at least) and Brandon does a good job of handling the monster. Lance then chomps down on Brandon. Lance then bends Brandon over a big table to shove that big cock of his into his fellow American. The bent-over position progresses to missionary and then finally to a rousing sit-down finale as Brandon achieves a nice load followed by a big gusher from Lance.

During a press conference, Drag Queen Harris announces George Gush the victor. Later, in Governor Jeb Gush's office, Drag Queen Harris sings "The Star Spangled Banner" as Jeb Gush (Anthony Cox) jerks himself to climax. His creamy load lands on her face (she's crouched down in front of him) smudging her pancake make-up — one of the video's funniest moments (certainly this was not what Francis Scott Key had in mind).

The next scene depicts the hand-counting ballot process made infamous by CNN and MSNBC during the "Battle for the White House." Tuck Johnson (handsome, brunet, gymnast build, thick piece) is the Democratic observer, Ryan Chandler (Nicholas Cage look-alike, tall, fair, brunet, average endowment) is the Republican observer and Tanner Hayes (cute, tanned, smooth, medium build) is the "Seminal" county election office worker. The three men get into a dispute over whether a vote should be for Gush or Bore and decide to resolve the matter with sexual competition. All three trade blows and then Ryan rims Tanner, then Tuck rims Tanner, then Ryan gives it to Tanner doggy-style on a ballot table, then Tuck rams Tanner missionary before all three, in a circle jerk, dump their loads and share a three-way kiss to end the scene (but not the ballot problem).

During a phone conversation, Judge McAllister (Jason Nichols) explains to Jeb Gush that he will take care of the ballot problem. He hangs up and decides to jerk off. Jason is a cute redhead with smooth pink skin and an average cock. He proceeds to yank out an average load.

The big finale, of course, is a sex scene with Al Bore and George Gush in a game of Whose Is Bigger? Well, heavy-hung Rick Ritter wins that one easily and so Kaleb Hayes plops down on his knees to pledge his allegiance to the flagpole. Rick Ritter is a very muscular young man who looks like the quintessential college football player (wide back, wide neck, big cock) and Kaleb honestly looks like a young version of George W. Bush (medium build, bushy eyebrows, average cock). Kaleb slurps away at Rick in various positions and then rims his hairy crack atop a big conference table. Rick then gives Kaleb a very wet and sloppy oral job before slamming into him in various positions — missionary-style, sit-down and pole-driver — all with great enthusiasm and patriotism. Rick and Kaleb both toss out presidential money-shots.

The Florida Erection: No One Likes Bush is a sexy little video with lots of laughs, lots of twentysomething models, and, most importantly, lots of hot sex. The production values, sets, costumes and dialogue are way above average. Generally speaking, porn parodies are slapdash efforts with little effort beyond the box cover, but The Florida Erection goes above and beyond to show porn and politics as cozy bedfellows.

A classic re-released on DVD

The Other Side of Aspen I set the standard for much of the gay male porn that followed reviewed by butch harris

The Other Side of Aspen I is the classic with three superstars: Casey Donovan, Al Parker and Dick Fisk, along with then-newcomers Jeff Turk (the only star to also appear in the sequel) and Chad Benson. This was originally shot back in 1978, when porn stars had “swimmer’s” and “gymnast’s” builds and a condoms were nowhere to be found. All of the sex action takes place inside a garishly decorated ski lodge (geometric upholstery and wallpaper galore).

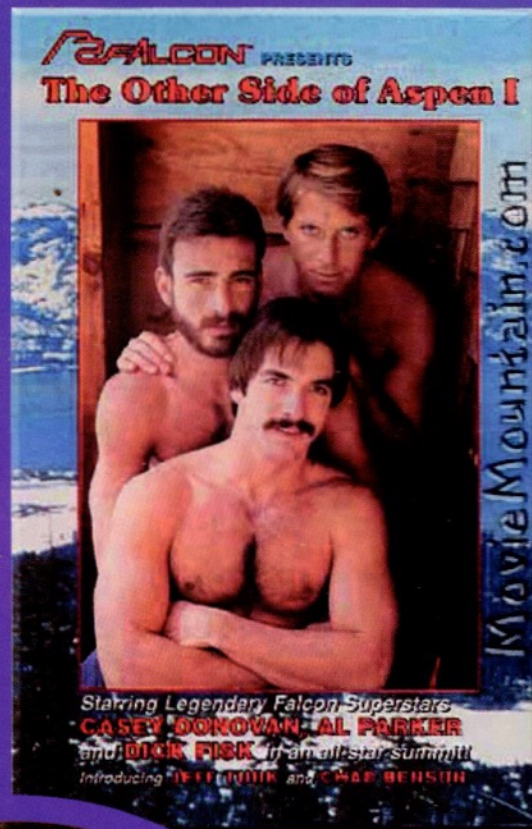

After a jog in San Francisco, Jeff Turk — a tall, dark and hung ski instructor (who lived in Dallas for a while in the early '90s) — reminisces about horny snow gophers as he shares the voyeuristic tales of his ski-instructor days with lover Mike Flynn.

He tells of how he saw Dick Fisk and Chad Benson trading blows and Dick eventually fucking Chad, as he peered through a window. Then he watched as Al Parker dominated Casey Donovan (including an amazing glove-free fisting scene). And he describes another scene with Dick Fisk, Chad Benson, Al Parker and Casey Donovan in the living room — with Donovan as the gangbang bottom. Jeff explains how he finally joined in mid-orgy, and the ski-ride ended with a good solid fucking to Donovan’s legendary hole, and then Donovan taking a major jizbath from Jeff, Al, Dick and Chad.

Director Colin Meyer shares juicy tidbits about the production throughout (as interviewed by Max Phillips, a videographer currently working for Falcon). For example, the principal filming was done with a battery-powered 16mm Airflex camera and the movie was actually filmed at Lake Tahoe — not Aspen, as the title would have you believe. Also, the jogging scenes and interaction between Jeff Turk and Mike Flynn were filmed later in San Francisco and used to tie the rest of the scenes together as a flashback, for release as a feature on videotape.

This is truly a gay porn classic and the film that set the standard for much of the porn that has followed. The quality and edit of the DVD version is clearly superior to the tape version (the picture quality is remarkable — the 16mm-to-digital transfer looks vibrant and crisp).

The DVD includes the full-length feature; a photo gallery; director’s commentary (Colin Meyer with Max Phillips); interactive menus; digitally transferred from the original 16mm film; chapter selections; and no regional coding.

The Other Side of Aspen I is beautifully remastered and dazzlingly performed and a must-have for any gay porn aficionado’s DVD collection.

Stardate

Aries (March 21-April 19) For a nice change, this week looks like it will mostly be on an even keel. Good news from a distance should bring a smile to your face. An interesting blind date could turn out to be something really special. Eating lighter lunches (or even skipping them) will help you to lose those few extra, pesky pounds.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) That recent romantic near miss sure was a lot of fun but it was merely a warm-up for the main event that's still to come. So keep your eyes wide open, Taurus. If you're looking to make a move by mid-May, now is the time to begin looking around at places. Resist the urge to party and drive on Thursday night.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) With everything that's on the agenda for this week, you'd need 10 days to get it all done. But you like to keep busy and productive isn't that so, Gemmy? It also keeps you out of trouble (don't deny it, now). Friday night looks best for a hot romantic interlude. If you do go out, try dressing up for a change, okay?

Cancer (June 22-July 22) Your magic touch will be prominent all week long in the form of giving out sound advice to other people. You really should be writing a book or column, Cancer. You've got a lot to say and others need to hear it. How about scheduling a garage sale for this weekend? You're sure to make a few bucks on it.

Leo (July 23-August 22) That latest financial venture looks really solid, but make sure that you're the majority partner or there's sure to be trouble down the road. An old friend you helped out a while ago may have a nice surprise in store to say thank you. Go ahead and accept that dinner invitation for Sunday night. It'll be fun.

Virgo (August 23-September 22) Now that you're back to flying solo once again (at least for a while anyway), take some time getting to know yourself all over again. Being uninvolved isn't a crime, you know! Add some bicycling to your exercise routine for a little more variety. And don't let that roommate walk all over you.

Libra (September 23-October 22) Don't let those long-held ambitions cloud your judgment, Libra. You've already stepped on more than a few toes and might not even realize it. Someone who was crazy about you still doesn't understand why you ended the friendship. Ease up on the partying for a week or so to recharge those batteries.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) You and that significant other desperately need to get away and hash a few things out (not to mention relax and chill). Book a trip for Easter weekend if at all possible. That promotion you've been salivating over should be a slam dunk, but buttering up the boss and taking him out to lunch couldn't hurt.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) Both this week and month should end on a particularly happy note for you, Sag. Mainly because you've booked and paid for that vacation getaway you're taking in May. Since you've lost some weight, it's time for some new clothes. Go shopping with a friend who's got fashion sense and good taste.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19) The current financial tight spot you're going through won't last more than a couple of more weeks. You'll just have to eat at home most of the time. That dream vacation originally set for June may need to be taken in the fall. Don't allow that well-meaning but nosy relative to push your buttons.

Aquarius (January 20-February 18) Sticking with tried and true methods this week is definitely your best bet. Wait until late next month to get experimental and daring. Although that recent job offer looks good, it might have some hidden flaws. So check it out thoroughly. It's probably a good time to have your vehicle's tires rotated again.

Pisces (February 19-March 20) It's nice to see you so confident and in firm control once again, Pisces. Much of the last couple of months has indeed been chaotic, but the storm is now beginning to subside a bit. Try to take at least half a day off on Friday if you can. Don't forget to use a powerful sun block if spending time outdoors.

Q encounter

Friendships

DAL We are looking for other couples to hang out with on the weekends. We like to take weekend road trips to casinos and anywhere I can take pictures. Box 35761

DAL 31YO WM, workaholic wanting friend for workout partner at Bally's 7-11 p.m. I'm 6'3", shaved, green eyes, straightforward, mature professional needing to get back into shape. People say I carry the weight well, but I'm way out of shape. Friendship preferred, fun safe play possible for right person, but with like motivation preferred. Box 35737

Women playmates

DAL I'm new to the Dallas area and looking for someone to play with my fiancé and I. Mainly me (he doesn't need to be involved, but I'd prefer it). I'm looking for a friendly open-minded outgoing person a personality is a plus. Hoping to hear from the right person soon. Box 35754

Women relationships

DAL I'm looking for feminine lesbians for friendship and of course maybe more. If you are interested in going down to Cedar Springs to meet for drinks, dancing, lunch or dinner. See a play or to hear a band. I'd love to hear from you. Box 35759

Men relationships

DAL Am I anyone's prince charming? Am I? Do I have a prince charming? Really do I? Sometimes I wonder? If so, your prince is a white male, 32YO, 6', 250#, br/bl, clean, usually semi-hairy. All I request is my prince is a W/HM, under 40YO, under 200#. Let us make the fairy tale come true for you and me. Box 35764

DAL I am HIV+, UB2. I enjoy going out for drinks and dancing with friends, movies, music, Antique Malls, Flea Markets and the beach. I'm sociable, outgoing and enjoy laughing and having a good time. I'm looking for someone who enjoys some or all of these things, which is down-to-earth and can carry on an intelligent conversation and can handle sarcastic humor. Box 35762

DAL GWM, 35YO, 5'10", 160#, fit, easygoing, professional, with many interests. Workout 4-5 times a week, rollerblade, read, play cards, and watch movies. I'm HIV+, active, and healthy. Looking for an educated professional near my age who's fit, likes a balanced life, wants to date and maybe try something more. Serious only please. I'll return all calls.

DAL Submissive WM, 44YO, 215#, 6'2", br/gr, goatee, HIV-, seeks ht/wt prop. dominant HIV-, WM for LTR., casual relationship. Box 35750

Men relationships

DAL Do you have everything, but no one to share it with? You're 35-55YO, Christian, HIV-, nonsmoker, very attractive, stable, honest, sincere, and looking for a lasting monogamous relationship with a GWM, of unquestionable character. I'm considered attractive, intelligent, ht/wt prop. non-promiscuous, tired of doing things alone. I'm in my 40s, but I'm very youthful, and seeking a masculine partner. Box 35745

DAL Teddy bear bottom boy looking for someone to bring my desires to life, or just looking for a cool guy to hang out with. Either way you could be the one I'm looking for. Box 35758

DAL Healthy HIV+ GWM, 40YO, 5'11", slender 167#, Au/Bl, mustache, goatee, smooth, pierced, tattooed, versatile bottom. Far East Dallas/Mesquite. I am looking for a physically intimate friend. I am not holding out for a monogamous boyfriend or a committed long-term relationship (although both are a possibility with the right person). My tastes are too varied to describe my type. But I would prefer someone between 27-53YO who is emotionally and financially stable, drug free, without a criminal record. Box 35757

DAL Attractive, professional GWM seeking similar GW/HM for friends and possible LTR. I am 41YO, auburn/hazel, 155#, slender build, very healthy HIV+ versatile/bottom. Nonsmoker, drug free, a very light drinker. Some of my hobbies include movies, theater, outdoors, cooking, and spending time with friends. I am looking to meet a similarly honest and trustworthy guy who shares the same or similar interests. Drop me a line guy, you have nothing to lose, but a future to gain. Box 35755

DAL I've always been told that I'm attractive. I fit the description of being clean-cut (yet I usually have a goatee, or slightly unshaven), 5'10", around 140#, 30w, smooth upper body, good head of hair. I'm seeking a partner who has a great head of hair (no preference to length, but enough to run my fingers through). I'm HIV+, and healthy. I only practice safe play; I'm very oral myself. I like a guy 25-45YO, who likes to be serviced (worshiped) and enjoys some S/M play. Give me a try, nothing ventured, nothing gained. Box 35755

DAL Call me. Handsome GBM, 34YO, masculine, with slim tone build, 5'6", 140#, nondrinker. I enjoy movies, music, conversation, and spending intimate time at home. I'm looking to meet a GM, 25-40YO, attractive, masculine, with slim tone build, open-minded, spiritual, sexual and drama free. Race unimportant, casual drinker OK. Take a chance it could change your life. Box 35738

DAL GWM, attractive, nice guy, 6', 240#, br/gr, hairy, masculine, 47YO, HIV-, nonsmoker, seeks a discreet relationship with an attractive W/HM, HIV-, nonsmoker. I like kissing, cuddling, cooking, music, movies, quiet evenings at home, bingo, and Casinos. Box 35740

Men relationships

Santa Fe 6'3", Lanky top, easygoing, healthy, nonsmoking, good-looking, secure, college graduate, 40ish, nice build. Seeks younger man for good conversation, music, romantic evenings, some fishing, snow skiing, and horseback riding. Love the outdoors, sunsets (particularly at 7000 ft.), and versatile guys not particularly into the bar scene, except for the occasional after dark drink or two-step. Box 35739

HOU Handsome, Greek, 38YO, 5'10", 170#, br/hzl, good body, nice moderately hairy, physique. ISO established, affluent, good-natured, older gentleman for companionship, maybe more. I'm attractive, well equipped mentally and physically, educated, easygoing, no baggage, drug free, HIV-, sexy and hot. Very domestic and social at the same time. Make you look and feel good. Let's talk, if you're serious. Box 35742

DAL I'm looking for someone who'll be fun to hang with, who knows who he is, and what he wants. Someone who likes to get intimate and nasty, and preferably someone who likes his guys on plump side. Box 34001

DAL Mid-Cities Leather Daddy looking for the right boy to spoil. Me: Early 50s (looks 40s), dominant top, 6'2", ht/wt prop., br/gr, sexy lips, E/F secure, HIV-, love to live life to the fullest. You: Under 30YO, boyish looking, H/Asian males are real turn on, but race is not an issue, nice body and looking for that special man to fulfill all your fantasies with the possibility of LTR. Let's do dinner and drinks and see if we click. Box 35725

DAL Looking for LTR? Me too, with that special man. Me: GWM, 48YO, 5'7", 173#, buzzed haircut, HIV-. You: GW/HM, 43-55YO, HIV-, looks unimportant, compatibility is. Have a variety of interest, date first, possible LTR. Call, let's talk. Box 35726

DAL Multi degreed professional GWM, 47YO, 176#, 5'11", active in strength training, decorative arts, recreational basketball, civic endeavors, seeks similarly multifaceted G/Bi/W/HM, professional, 38-52YO, for city and outdoor activities of mutual interest. I'm bald, blue eyed, and in-shape. So should you be (in-shape, that is). Box 35729

DAL GWM looking for friendships and maybe more. Not into drugs or mind games, just real men, small medium build. I'm a nice looking guy, with a small build, am in my 30s, am versatile, HIV+, but healthy with a lot more life to share with someone. Time together will show you have nothing lose, and a friend to gain. Box 35731

DAL GWM medium build, 30s, smooth body, likes music theater, movies, cars, art. Would like to meet GWM, 34-40YO, small to medium build, HIV+, as I am, healthy with a good outlook on life, versatile, fun, wanting a monogamous relationship. Box 35732
