FIESTA BEGINS IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO — Fiesta '82 has begun—running from April 16 to 25. Fiesta always ignites a spark of youthful vibrancy to the atmosphere of San Antonio—a city which American humorist Will Rogers called "one of America's four unique cities."

Fiesta is a Texas size Mardi Gras. Fiesta is a lavish blending of delicious food, lively music, costumed dancers, brightly decorated parade floats, marching bands, elegant balls, and jammed entertainment clubs.

Fiesta is a lavish blending of all walks of life attracting travelers from everywhere. Fiesta is a blend of gaity, figuratively and literally!

Fiesta transforms San Antonio into a make-believe, fun-filled city of fantasy and amusement. San Antonio is a romantic mixture of history and tradition, a picturesque treasure, a modern city with the charm of foreign cultures, and the home of warm fun-loving people who would just as soon throw a Fiesta as take a siesta.

But, from April 16 until 25, there is no time or desire for a siesta in San Antonio as the city is totally wired for Fiesta '82.

750,000 EXPECTED AT ART FESTIVAL

HOUSTON — The Spring Art Festival is set for this weekend, April 17-18, from 9:00am until dusk both days. The blocks of 100-1100 Westheimer will be lined with more than 425 artists from all over the country, with more than three-quarters of a million participants expected in the two days of the event. Artists from all over have always flocked to the festival they have pronounced as the "best and biggest in the Southwest."

It is noted throughout America as the biggest outdoor art festival in the country. More than 60 artists from Texas and around the United States have included this Art Festival on their schedules since the festival began in October, 1975.

Space applications for the 1982 spring show were sent out the first week of January, and more applications have been received back than ever before, TWT NEWS was told.

For the first time, Westheimer will, at last, be closed to motor vehicle traffic. TWT NEWS has learned that at last Tuesday's city council meeting, a special ordinance was passed to close the street to traffic from Bagby to Montrose, during this weekend's Art Festival.

In an effort to ensure the safety of all participants of the semi-annual festival, the city council looked favorably on this ordinance. The effect of the vote on this ordinance would be to close the east- and west-bound traffic on the street, allowing north and south streets Taft and Stanford to be used for traffic. Emergency vehicles and those residing on Westheimer would still have access, TWT NEWS was told.

LGDT ENDORSES PRIMARY CANDIDATES

AUSTIN — Last Saturday, the Lesbian Gay Democrats of Texas (LGDT) met in the Capitol City to agree on endorsements for the May 1 primary.

Bob Armstrong has received the official endorsement of LGDT for Governor of Texas, TWT NEWS was informed.

Other endorsements included John Hannah for State Attorney General, Ann Richards for State Treasurer, Jim Hightower for Agriculture Commissioner and Gary Maura for Land Commissioner.

High accord among members made the statewide meeting very productive, a representative told TWT NEWS. The days of endless debate and intra-confrontation seem to have given way to a very professionally executed conference of open communication. Truly, LGDT has come of political age, it was observed.

HEAVY CANDIDATE TURNOUT AT HGPC

HOUSTON — Forty-seven candidates, the most ever, came before the Houston Gay Policital Caucus at the downtown Holiday Inn on April 7 to personally seek the prestigious and politically important endorsement of this city's weight-yielding gay caucus.

When all the speech making and debate subsided, when all the votes had been tallied, and when the clock had tirelessly ticked past midnight, the following qualified candidates walked away with a powerful GPC endorsement in their hip pocket.

After careful screening, the HGPC has released to TWT NEWS the following endorsements for the May 1 Primary: Murray Cohen for First Court of Appeals, Gary Van Ooteghem for Harris County Treasurer, John Odom for Harris County Party Chairman, Steve Henley for Democratic Executive Committee of Precinct 139, Micky Leland for District 18 of the US Congress and Mike Andrews for District 25 of the US Congress.

For State Representatives, GPC has endorsed Al Edwards for District 146, Larry Evans for District 147, and Frumencio Reyes for District 148.

For State Board of Education, Volly Bastine has received the endorsement for District 15 and Steven Schafersman for District 25.

Richard Cross has been endorsed for State Senate District 15.

In the judgeship races, GPC endorsed Geraldine Tennant for District 113, Michael O'Brien for District 125 and Richard Moore for District 228. All are Democrats.

In District 295, GPC has endorsed both Democrat Elinor Walters and Republican Sharolyn Wood. It is the only incident where GPC has endorsed both political party's primary races simultaneously.

Gay voters can meet many of the endorsed candidates at this weekend's Westheimer Colony Art Festival. The candidate booth will be operable beginning at noon this Saturday and Sunday, April 17 and 18.

WANT TO BE A DELEGATE?

HOUSTON — So, you wanna be a delegate! Well, the Houston GPC is giving you that opportunity.

In an effort to educate the community, GPC will sponsor a mock precinct convention for both Republicans and Democrats next Wednesday, April 21, beginning at 7:30pm, at the GPC Office, 4600 Main.

GPC president Larry Bagneris, Jr., explained to TWT NEWS, "After voting on election day, May 1, immediately after the polls close at 7:00pm, your election judge will call to order your precinct convention.

"These conventions can vary in participation, from eight to 45 people, from which occurs the selection of the delegates to your district convention, which will be held May 15.

"Delegates are then selected to attend their respective state conventions, which will be held September 10-11."

What's the importance?

Bagneris answered, "We only have to look at the 1980 convention results which voted for the fist time a resolution to repeal 21.06 (sodomy penal code). With so few people involved in the convention process, we, as gay people, have an opportunity to direct those conventions in our interests and to protect the advances we already attained."

TURTLE CREEK CHORALE WINS AWARD

DALLAS — TWT NEWS has learned that on March 20, the men of the Turtle Creek Chorale were judged winners in the state competition of the "Johnny Mann Great Americal Choral Festival," held at the Dallas Convention Center. From a field of eight, the Chorale was awarded $1,000 and the opportunity to compete in the regionals in Dallas on Saturday, April 24.

Hosted by Hilton Hotels International and held in many cities across the country, the Festival was conceived by Johnny Mann for the purpose of "bringing Americans together through music." The competition will end ultimately with the selection of the single best amateur vocal group in the U.S. at the national contest in Philadelphia on May 27, Dialog reported.

The Chorale continues its 1982 concert series under the direction of Dr. Richard Fleming, Sunday, April 18, with the performance of Cherubini's Requiem in D Minor at the Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Oaklawn and Blackburn streets, 8:15pm, with full orchestral accompaniment. Tickets are $5 and available from any Chorale member. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold at the door. Further ticket information can by obtained by calling (214) 821-3086.

PITTENGER LECTURE HUGE SUCCESS

HOUSTON — On March 30, Dr. Norman Pittenger addressed a standing-room-only crowd of 160 at Autry House. "This was the largest event in the history of our chapter," a spokesperson told TWT NEWS. A large portion of the credit for the success of the evening must go to the cosponsors: Metropolitan Community Church of the Resurrection, Montrose Church of Christ, Dignity/Houston, and Lutherans Concerned. They contributed not only time, money and labor, but they also contributed about two-thirds of the audience. Special thanks also to the Bayou City Men's Chorus, who sang the anthem.

Houston's KPFT-FM 90 will air Dr. Pittenger's address on Thursday, May 6, at 10:30pm. "We are already working with WBAI in New York and WPFW in Washington" to get the program aired in those cities, it was explained.

FORT WORTH — TWT NEWS has been informed of the opening of a new Center for the Community at 2412 Lipscomb. The new center is being operated through the combined help of several gay organizations and churches, including the Tarrant County Gay Alliance, T. Wallace, TCGA announced.

Center for the Community offers a 24-hour counseling service at (817) 926-3521. This telephone is also answered for TCGA, it was said. TCGA continues to meet on the first Tuesday of each month at 8:00pm at 2336 Hemphill in Fort Worth.

TABC RULES ON NEW HOUSTON BAR

AUSTIN — TWT NEWS has learned that an administrative judge for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission (TABC) has recommended the granting of the application for a mixed beverage permit for The Deep, located at 2212 Converse in Houston, effective March 31.

A protest was filed against the licensing of The Deep by Robin Utterback and Clifton Gaylord. A hearing was held at the TABC in Austin on March 29. The applicants of The Deep were successfully represented by attorneys Debra Danburg and Wade Bingaman.

Witness for the bar included Preston Porter and Jim Ethridge, J.D. Brown, Pat Rhea and Bob Fuertes.

Regarding the granting of the permit, Ms. Danburg told TWT NEWS, "While Mr. Gaylord had the burden of proof, we effectively demonstrated that The Deep has not only complied with the minimum legal standards, but has gone beyond the requirements to become the most responsible establishment in the area."

Regarding impact on the neighborhood, Danburg observed, "This is already a highly commercialized area of Montrose. Without zoning, all we can do is assure compliance with all rele-

GAY ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS

HOUSTON — On March 22, 1982, eleven men met in Montrose to organize the new Houston Area Gay and Lesbian Engineers and Scientists. A wide variety of professions were represented, TWT NEWS was told.

The group will meet regularly on the fourth Wednesday of each month at 7pm at various members' homes. The April meeting will be a pot-luck where excerpts from a tape of "Problems arising from homophobia in the scientific workplace" will be heard. This tape was made at the 1980 Annual Meeting of the AAAS in San Francisco and has been provided by the National Organization of Gay and Lesbian Scientists.

For more information call (713) 526-7386, Jim Baker told TWT NEWS.

GAY LIBERATION IN MEXICO

HOUSTON — INTERACT has announced to TWT NEWS that Dennis Medina will speak on the topic "Gay Liberation in Mexico," at the Educational Forum next Thursday, April 22, at 7:30pm, 3405 Mulberry, Houston.

Mr. Medina, a member of the Gay Hispanic Caucus, was recently interviewed by the Gay Community News of Boston, concerning the Houston Police Department and Houston's gay Hispanics. Mr. Medina holds a B.S. in Psychology from Texas A&M University.

INTERACT spokesperson Carl Owens told TWT NEWS, "This Educational Forum represents a joining of resources by two disparate groups in the Houston gay community to provide the public with more information about gay life." Educational Forums are open to the public and free, though donations will be accepted and divided between the Gay Hispanic Caucus and INTERACT. A signer will be available, TWT NEWS was told.

LGDT GEARS UP FOR ELECTIONS

AUSTIN — The spring and summer promises to be one of the busiest and most productive times in the history of the Lesbian/Gay Democrats of Texas (LGDT). For the first time, a number of statewide candidates are interested in receiving support from gays all across Texas.

We are coordinating our endorsement efforts with those of the Dallas Gay Alliance, the Houston Gay Political Caucus and the Austin Lesbian/Gay Political Caucus, TWT NEWS was told by Steve Thomas, co-chair of LGDT. Those groups will be printing slate cards with their state and local endorsements, and distributing them in their cities.

But what about the gay Democratic voter in Lubbock, Abilene or Beaumont? "It is LDGT's mission to try to inform gay Democrats throughout the state about which candidates have committed themselves to support the civil rights of gay citizens," LGDT answered.

This goal can be accomplished if LGDT can enlist the aid of local gay organizations, businesses, MCCs, etc., to help distribute LGDT slate cards. Groups in about 15 different cities are now being contacted.

You can help with this project of distributing 20,000 LGDT slate cards in areas outside of Dallas, Houston and Austin. Printing of the cards will cost about $300. Advertising the slate will cost additional money.

"The LGDT bank account has been nearly depleted since expenditures on our highly successful 1980 convention activities," said P.C. "Scottie" Scott, co-chair of LGDT. "We must rely on the contributions of individual LGDT supporters to finance this effort," he added.

Harris County Jail

Dear TWT:

Mr. Havican's letter [COMMENT, Vol. 8, No. 3, April 9-15] was of interest to me because of my experience of working within the Harris County Jail system for 16 months in 1980-'81. For the most part I understand what he describes as standard practice.

The questions he was asked are part of the "classification" system mandated by federal court to identify individuals vulnerable to inmate harassment and other stress factors within the jail. Being homosexual is only one criterion of the classification system. Had Mr. Havican remained in jail for a longer period of time he most likely would have been placed in a segregated tank, either with other homosexuals or alone. This would have been done because it is believed that would be safest for Mr. Havican and it would least disrupt the jail system.

For Mr. Havican to conclude that an attempt was made to entrap him I believe is wrong. From my experience I believe he was placed in the safest possible location. I grant that being in Harris County Jail is a dreadful experience. But I feel I can assure you that the staff is dedicated to their mission—to hold an inmate safe and sound until the court makes a decision. The fact that it has taken a federal court order to get a new safer facility is more a reflection on the County Commissioners and the people that elect them, than on the Sheriff's Department.

We would do well to establish a dialogue with the Sheriff's Department to find those issues which we can mutually support. From there we can move on to those that present differences.

Family & Friends

Dear TWT:

Family and Friends of Gays wishes to express our appreciation to Andy Mills for inviting us to have our Bake Sale at Mary's on Sunday afternoon, April 4. Andy and all the guys who work there did so very much to make it the great success that it was, and we are most grateful to them. They are beautiful people.

We also thank the gay community for supporting us. We have many, many good friends in the community, and it was a joy to see you there. Now, with the money we made, we can have a float in the Gay Pride Week parade, thanks to you.

Not only was our cake sale a success, but we really enjoyed the afternoon; in fact, we had the time of our lives there with you good men and women. We love all of you.

Mary Wilson—Supreme

Dear TWT:

Thank you, Houston's Copa and Austin's Tex's Colorado Steet Bar, for bringing to your stages Mary Wilson and her Supremes, March 19 and 20 respectively. Also thanks to TWT (Vol. 8, No. 2, April 2-8) for the interview by Rob Clark and photos by Scott Taylor. It's amazing that after 22 years in the business, Mary is looking better than ever and her talent, stagemanship and personality still reign "supreme." I wish Mary the best in all her endeavors. She truly deserves it. I admire her a great deal.

Dear TWT:

I am so glad I traveled to Houston this year for the Diana Awards show. I have seen it before, but never like this year. It was fantastic! The dance/production numbers were fabulous. Now, when they quit the "in" awards to unknowns (except to themselves) and do all of them to known people (like their Nancy Reagan award), the show will be perfect. Between this show and the Miss Camp America show, Houston has the best entertainment

Mr. & Ms. Gay Pride

Dear TWT:

We'd like to encourage participation . . . to select Mr. and Ms. Gay Pride for 1982.

As the current Mr. and Ms. Gay Pride, we feel that it is imperative to have sponsor participation to have a successful contest. Last year, the contest was our third biggest fundraiser for Gay Pride Week. . . . . Houston's Gay Pride Week will cost in excess of $50,000 this year, and this contest does much to help defray those expenses. The publicity is valuable to the sponsor as well.

We are particularly interested in having more cooperation from the women in our community, and would like to stress sponsorship from the women's bars and/or sponsorship of a male and female contestant from any interested bar, business or organization. We would like to also stress that the contest is not limited to entries from bars only.

Much to our mutual chagrin, we would like to remind TWT readers that this is not merely a beauty contest. We'd like to think we're all beauties, but the persons we're looking for will hopefully be among those who take a full, active interest in the betterment of the gay community of Houston at large. . . . .

. . . Any inquiries regarding Mr. and Ms. Gay Pride should be directed to John Kirk, Co-chair GPW '82, (713) 529-5766.

CHANGING LANES

by Linda M. Parks, Ph.D.

I not only changed lanes—I changed highways. My story is not unique in many ways, but to me what happened to change my life was extraordinary.

My high school graduation came early—I was only sixteen years old. So, when I entered my first year of college, I may have been educationally qualified, but I was certainly not emotionally ready to mix with students much older than myself. I met a young man, fell in "love," and when I was only eighteen, I was married. It only lasted a year, and I was heartbroken and disillusioned when it did.

I continued with my studies and graduated from a mid-western university when I was nineteen years old. I immediately turned around and began to work on a master's degree in psychology, my chosen field.

My social life was average, I think, as I look back on it. I was popular with the opposite sex, but I had a great many female pals, too. I joined a sorority early in my college career, and I still enjoy that fellowship. There was no indication that I was any different than anyone else, and I never had any misgivings about myself. I had my sights set on working with people who needed help with their emotional problems, and therefore, I felt I was stable and certainly preparing myself to be qualified for my future. But I wasn't quite prepared for what was in store for me.

My education went along as scheduled. I loved to study and I enjoyed the competition of making good grades. I was active in sports, was on my university's tennis team for three years. I was runner-up for prom queen. I was a student teacher as I progressed up the ladder towards my master's degree—and then, while I worked on my doctorate, I worked full-time teaching. It was during this time that I was also doing some work with a hospital in its psychiatric ward. And this is where I met my "Waterloo." Her name was Lynn.

She was a nurse at the hospital where I spent some evenings, and we met casually and became friends almost immediately. I liked her honesty and intelligence. She made me laugh and she kept me relaxed and at ease more than anyone I had ever been around. She was a year older than I, but it seemed she knew so much more about life than I did. I never had any thoughts about homosexuality—at least not in relationship to myself. I'd studied it, thought about it in classroom discussions, and that was it. To ever have thought that I was homosexual or ever could be—well, it was out of the question.

How it ever happened is still a mystery to me. It was not planned. But, I got so I could hardly wait to get to the hospital—and it wasn't to do my work. I finally decided it was to see Lynn. But, I still did not tell myself why. Maybe I didn't even know yet.

But, one evening I found myself quite alone with her, and we were having a cup of coffee and talking—and somehow we touched hands—that contact was like an electrical shock. I'd never felt anything like it, and it absolutely astonished me. She felt it, too.

It upset me so much that I found myself trying desperately to avoid running into her. But, it wasn't to be that easy, as it seemed we were thrown together more and more. So, one day, I faced that fact that as crazy as it was—and as impossible as it was, I was in love with a woman. She was in my thoughts constantly—I couldn't work—I couldn't sleep—and, of course, I couldn't eat. I was as love-sick as any teenager ever was. I didn't know what to do. I panicked. I was sick. And I felt like everyone in the world could read my thoughts, and it really became a burden. Finally, I went to a doctor friend of mine—a man—and told him all about it. He talked with me for a long time and convinced me that I was not some creepy, crawly thing, as I was telling myself that I was. He encouraged me to face what I was feeling and to live with it. So I did.

Lynn and I finally got together. She had been going through the same soul-searching that I was. She'd never considered the possibility that she could be "gay." When it happened, she was shocked.

That was fifteen years ago, and she and I have lived together all this time. We've had all the ups and downs that anyone else ever had in this world, and we've had to work out a lot of differences, and we've gone through some bad times.

I gave up teaching. I do private counseling and I write. She is still in nursing. Together, we have our life—it is a good one, as fifteen years together shows. I do not know how I could have any regrets about discovering who I really was—and am—being "gay" is perhaps not a lifestyle I would have picked for myself—but it is the life I must lead, and it is my life. I do understand the many problems concerning the gay community—and I understand the non-gay world's concern, too! It all boils down to the fact that each person is an individual, with special, unique characteristics, and no amount of social conditioning can undo what is inside a person. I truly feel that homosexuality is not the social disease that our society in general has labeled it to be. And I do not think a person can change his or her sexual desires because of training or education or scorn or ridicule or anything else.

If I had not met Lynn when I did, I suppose I might have wandered through my life searching for some unknown personal satisfaction. Maybe I would have married again—and divorced again. And I'm sure that would have pleased both my folks and my associates much better than my being happy with a woman as a life companion. It's strange how minds work!

So anyway, I made that drastic discovery early enough to save myself and possibly others some heartaches. My lane changed—but I don't think I would make a U-turn now—even if I could.

ASSIGNMENT: HEALTH

Part VII of a continuing series of narrative features on health and hygiene.

ON DRUGS

by Craig Rowland

One of the least understood areas of the effects of recreational drug taking is that of the "weekend" user over a prolonged period of time. A typical example is the generally healthy individual who parties on Saturday night, highlighting that party spirit with, perhaps, a hit of "Flash" or MDA, several joints over the course of the evening, a few beers, maybe a little coke, and a quaalude later to come down. More often than not a good time is had by all and a solid night's rest will cure headaches and any other lingering effects. But what, if any, are the long-term physiological effects of this kind of indulgence? No one seems to know, but at least that question is being seriously investigated; especially since the widely-publicized syndrome of apparently gay-related diseases and infections has surfaced recently in this country. For now, those who pop pills, inhale powders or smoke what they can't swallow or sniff may do so at a risk to their health. Taking drugs is a personal choice with, as yet, mostly unknown long-term consequences.

For those who opt in favor of getting high there is the risk of the occasional drug overdose, or other serious effects from ingesting drugs and alcohol that can, for even the occasional user, prove dangerous or even lethal. Knowing what to do in such a situation can save your or a friend's life. Fortunately, helpful procedures can be administered even by the non-professional that can be crucial to recovery.

The speed with which a drug overdose is recognized may determine whether a patient lives or dies. A few standard guidelines can help you determine what to do.

If the patient is conscious and there is no problem with breathing, he or she should be taken as quickly as possible to the emergency room of the nearest hospital. If, however, there is a breathing problem (there should be at least ten reasonably deep breaths a minute), call the police or an ambulance to take the patient to the hospital. If artificial respiration is needed and you know how to give it, be sure that patient is on a hard surface, such as a floor (not a bed). Any drugs or bottles found near the patient should be taken to the hospital. Or, if the problem occurs while out with friends and someone knows that the patient has dipped into that particular bag of MDA, get it and take it to the hospital. It could be contaminated, as is the case with any "street" drug. Fast information about a person's drug intake could be lifesaving because treatment is different depending on what drugs are ingested.

If the patient is unconscious, call immediately for police assistance and an ambulance. As much as the idea of involving the police may sound dreadful, you will probably be surprised at the cooperation you will receive by the para-professionals that will be sent. They won't be the standard street cops.

Meanwhile, if you think the patient may vomit, the best position is face down on the floor with the head turned to one side. Hold the chin forward if breathing isn't easy. Never use stimulants such as coffee in an attempt to revive the patient. And always recognize the limits of your competence in treating someone. These are emergency measures only. They are not a substitute for prompt treatment in a hospital.

Maintenance of adequate airway is important. Noisy airflow, snoring, gurgling and wheezing are signs of an obstruction and call for immediate remedial action. Tilt the patient's head backward, clean the mouth and throat with finger and/or suction, pull the lower jaw forward and use mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Be gentle.

Unless the patient is comatose, convulsing or physiologically depressed, induce vomiting as rapidly as possible by irritating the back of the tongue with a spoon or finger, giving a glass of water and irritating the tongue again. Keep the head down during vomiting, and save the results for laboratory analysis if possible.

If convulsing is a problem, hold the patient down and pay special attention to his or her breathing. Keep the body temperature as normal as possible by using blankets, overcoats or whatever is available.

These guidelines are general. Other complications may be involved that will require different intervention; however, in most drug overdose cases the above methods should prove helpful.

Obviously, pharmaceutical drugs are safer in that you can be more certain that they won't be contaminated. Street drugs can contain virtually anything. If you take drugs, know the person you get them from.

There are many stages we pass through in our expanding gay awareness, and those who have passed the initial stages may not be interested to hear about coming out again. But many are just now beginning to learn about themselves, and they need to know where to get the facts. There are many books available, but now Young, Gay & Proud, edited by Sasha Alyson and others, is out, written specifically for young persons who feel they may be gay.

The book is concise and filled with personal experiences and feelings, shared problems and possible solutions, gay sex and health advice. Its most valuable offering may be to explain and destroy the myths and lies that are used to deny and oppress people's individuality and feelings for their own sex.

The tone is personal, not dry or "lecturing." I don't know if there is a "level" at which high school age people talk or think, but the conversational tone allows the audience to relate to the writers. The writers (many of them upfront gay young people) are enthusiastic about themselves, and use standard and slang terms to clearly explain and inform their audience. Both a young lesbian and a gay male share their coming out experience in one of their high school classes, though they feel this may not be the right way to go for everyone.

One of the big plusses of this book is the presence of the gay women's perspective. Most of the gay "self-help" books, studies and perspectives are written by gay men who plead ignorance and do not provide gay women's viewpoints. This book is an excellent remedy for the dearth of books sensitive to women's needs.

The drawings by Beth Ireland depict scenes of nurturing support between same-sex couples, young persons carrying signs in a demonstration that say, "I'm unique, there's no one like me in the whole world; I'm worthwhile and I like myself." Other illustrations give detailed information on female anatomy. Charts also give information on sexually transmitted diseases.

There is no one way to tell family and friends one is gay, but the authors suggest guidelines and possibilities to help in this area. Also mentioned are Parents of Gays organizations which would help parents with their own fears and misconceptions about their newly discovered gay child. Other reference material is listed for lesbians and gay male youths, written specifically to address the unique problems of their gender as well as the more general problems that gay young people have.

The major obstacle young people have is not their own ignorance alone. The ignorance of their guardians, parents and teachers keeps them in the dark of the closet about themselves. Young people will search for information about their sexual selves with determination, and in their ignorance, they will accept wrong information or dangerous information to satisfy their need to know. Though their parents and others may be well-meaning, their efforts only deprive their loved ones of correct, helpful information and do a grave disservice to the health and well-being of their children. Hopefully, Young, Gay & Proud will put both gay and non-gay young people and their parents on the path to a healthy acceptance and respect of the sexual selves.

BLAKE EDWARDS' VICTOR Victoria

Reviewed by Steve Vecchietti

JAMES GARNER, ROBERT PRESTON and JULIE ANDREWS star in MGM's Victor/Victoria, a romantic comedy of mistaken identity set in 1930's Paris.

Camp has reached a pinnacle with this new baby of Blake Edwards. Victor/Victoria has everything you could possibly want—exquisite sets in deco heaven, high gay camp that will roll you over into the aisles, excellent acting by marvelous actors, deeply rich photography that will leave you breathless, and Paris the way you have always dreamed it would be in the 30s.

The lead and the most surprising acting to be seen by a stereotyped actress in all my years of movie-going is that of Julie Andrews, who plays a woman playing a man as a drag queen. Now, if that sounds confusing to you, don't be alarmed—the confusion is ironed out by the time you settle into your seat. Ms. Andrews will bowl you over as a drag queen—her sets are flawless, her dancing incredible, and her camp is right on the money. Not once could you ever imagine Julie Andrews in a pinstriped suit, short-cropped hair and singing jazz like Marlene Dietrich. But she does. And when a movie audience applauds a song on the screen, then you know you're sitting in on a hot, unique movie happening.

As her two leading men, Julie has none other than James Garner and Robert Preston. Garner is her Chicago gangster guy, who thinks he's cracking up because he is falling in love with a drag queen. The old Garner is smooth and professional, and easy as a stuffed chair to get along with; he blends into the conversations and comedy with Ms. Andrews in a touching and unique combination of talents.

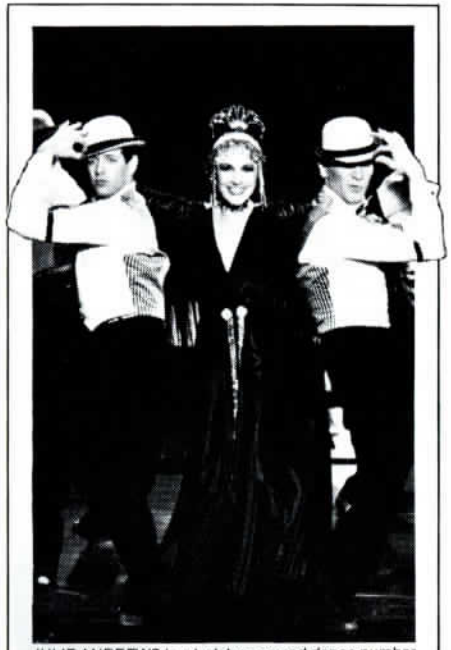
Robert Preston gives a stunning performance as Julie Andrews' homosexual friend and help-mate. He is a consummate actor who at once spatters the audience with gay clips and verbal sophistication. He blends so comfortably into the deco furniture and clothing that you will at once believe he was born into the wrong time period.

Almost stealing the show, but not quite, is Garner's dizzy ex-girlfriend, Lesley Ann Warren. She is perfect as the dumb blonde a la Judy Holliday, and she sizzles like a hot chili dog on a July sidewalk. She slinks, smacks gum and spreads a Chicago-style gun-moll accent thickly on your ears.

LESLEY ANNE WARREN stars as Norma, the dizzy girlfriend of King (JAMES GARNER) in MGM's Victor/Victoria.

To fill out the surprises that keep popping up in this blockbuster, old football star Alex Karras plays Garner's bodyguard, and admits to being gay halfway through the flick. If you still aren't sold, spread on some original music by none other than Henry Mancini.

Produced and directed by Blake Edwards, this film is all his baby. He uses love and tender touches in the screenplay and photography like a mother with her baby. This should lead to bigger and better things, and thank God for that.



JULIE ANDREWS in a lavish song-and-dance number "Le Jazz Hot" in MGM's Victor/Victoria.

The plot moves along at a fast clip but leaves you wanting more and more. Comedy scenes are sharp and clear and always hilarious.

The film deals with homosexuality, love and the puzzles of what make people so insane. Role reversal, male or female, is worked out through laughter, color and small, professional quiet moments of conversation—just enough talking at quiet tables to keep you in love with the art of cocktails and talk.

The sets and furniture made all the audience gasp. Deco is reproduced with such loving care to attention that the magazines, and even the matchbook covers, are original reproductions. If you want to reassess Julie Andrews as an actress and entertainer, if you want to laugh and camp, if you want to feel thoroughly fantastic walking out of a theater, go see Victor/Victoria.

WARNING: if you don't want to slip onto the floor in shock when Robert Preston does the final drag number, grip your seat arms with both hands and hold your breath!

SHOWBIZ

by Jack Varsi

Blondie's Deborah Harry as brunette in Videodrome

CELLULOID HORIZON — Videodrome, a bizarre film starring Blondie's Deborah Harry, has been shrouded in secrecy ever since production began last November in Toronto, but enough news has been leaked to suggest that it may turn out to be one of the most provocative films of the decade. Directed by David Cronenberg (The Scanners), and reportedly containing some spectacular special effects, Videodrome is about an extremely kinky TV show which daily offers such delights as torture and various forms of sado-masochistic sex. Watching the show induces incredible hallucinations in one of the characters, played by James Woods, who starts to believe that it is some sort of sociological experiment. The film should be out sometime this summer.

WRIST-SLAPPING DEPT — I thought Tim Matheson was the best thing in National Lampoon's Animal House a few years ago, and he was one of the more interesting actors in Steven Spielberg's 1941. He's been acting since he was 12. On television he appeared in Leave It To Beaver, My Three Sons, Twilight Zone, Bonanza and a number of other shows before graduating to the big screen where he appeared in Yours, Mine and Ours with Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda, and later, Magnum Force with Clint Eastwood. Animal House was his big break, but since 1941 he really hasn't had a script worthy of his talents. His latest film, A Little Sex, is like an incredibly tiresome made-for-TV movie. Matheson plays a newly-married TV commercials director who has trouble resisting extracurricular sex (this really should have been a gay movie; maybe somebody will remember this plot when it's time to film Making Love II). It looks like the studio is trying to pass off A Little Sex as a sexy farce, but the film actually falls more into the category of Kramer vs Ordinary People—and it's probably ten times more boring.

MAKING TRACKS DEPT — The original Righteous Brothers, consisting of Bobby Hatfield and Bill Medley, are apparently about to make still another trip down the comeback trail as they kick off a six-month tour beginning with an appearance at Knotts Berry Farm in Anaheim, Calif. The duo, for whom the phrase "blue-eyed soul" was coined, hit superstar status in the mid-sixties with classics such as "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'," "Unchained Melody" and "Soul and Inspiration," only to call it quits in 1968. They reteamed in 1974 and scored again, somewhat less successfully, with "Rock and Roll Heaven" and "Dream On," and eventually split again. No word yet on recording plans . . . Another former supergroup, Crosby, Stills and Nash, is also back together again and planning a tour. Their newest album, Daylight Again is nearing completion . . . The latest progressive rock group to get the no-holds-barred media hype treatment is the newly-formed Asia, a group made up of ex-members of such disparate acts as Yes, Emerson, Lake & Palmer, King Crimson and Buggles. If you've heard some of the music on their debut album, you may be wondering why they're being constantly referred to as "the first supergroup of the eighties" . . . Paul McCartney and Stevie Wonder's duet, "Ebony and Ivory," is the fastest-breaking single in over ten years. The tune was produced by former Beatle producer George Martin . . . Can you wait to hear Tab Hunter sing "Reproduction" in Grease II which opens this summer? Tab's last hit was "Ninety-Nine Ways" in March, 1957—a couple of months before that he hit No. 1 with "Young Love." Where would you be if I didn't dispense these useful facts?

TEXAS by Rob Clark

DALLAS (214)

The Dallas Gay Alliance is putting together another superb fundraiser for the Dallas gay community. The production is Design For Living, written by Noel Coward. The play is a comedy about relationships, with a faintly wicked and gleeful look at the love life of the elite social class of the 1920s. Design For Living will be performed at Theatre Three, Thurs., April 22 at 8:00pm. Call DGA at 528-4233 for ticket information. Let's support our community!

The ultra-unique Jane Olivor will bring her dynamic voice to the Music Hall in Fair Park, Mon., May 10. Tickets are available at Rainbow Outlets. This is one enchanted evening you shouldn't miss.

Anna Russell

Anna Russell, the prima donna of parody, will present her famous brand of musical madness and her incomparable analysis of Wagner's Ring, April 25 at 4:00pm in McFarlin Auditorium on the SMU campus. Ms. Russell has been heralded as "the world's funniest woman" in the Times of London. Tickets may be obtained by calling the Dallas Opera ticket office at 528-3200.

An array of top stars and exciting musical theatre has been announced as the 1982 season of the Dallas Summer Musicals to be performed at the Music Hall at Fair Park. Shows and their dates are: The Unsinkable Molly Brown, June 1-13; Annie, June 15-27; Hello, Dolly! starring Carol Channing, June 29-July 11; Evita, July 13-August 1; The Ann-Margret Show, August 3-8; and The Mitzi Gaynor Show, August 24-29. Tickets for these events go on sale May 17.

HOUSTON (713)

The Wall, Millard Lampell's kaleidoscopic play depicting the struggle of the Jews of Warsaw, Poland, against the ever-tightening noose of Nazi oppression, will begin a month-long run on Alley Theatre's Large Stage this week at 8:00pm, April 16, under the direction of Pat Brown.

Based on the novel by John Hersey, The Wall covers a period of three years, 1940-43, in the lives of the Warsaw Jews during which their world (under the guise of a typhus quarantine) become restricted to a 10-block square-walled universe of misery, where schools were shut down, bank accounts frozen, forbidden to ride in taxis or on streetcars, worship in public or play "Aryan" music, and where they were forced to surrender their shelter and belongings. The Wall will play through May 16. Call the Alley box office for ticket information, 228-8421.

Watch for Jane Olivor's new album to be released soon. Also, watch for her performance at Jones Hall, Wed., May 12. If you've never seen this lady, you've missed a very high-class act. Tickets are at all Ticketmaster outlets, Montgomery Ward, Sound Warehouse, Tower Theatre, Downtown Ticket Center, and the Astrodome.

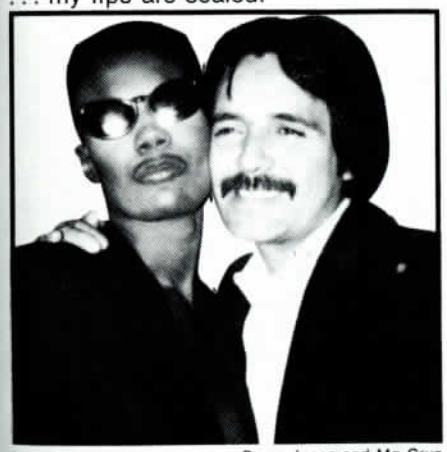
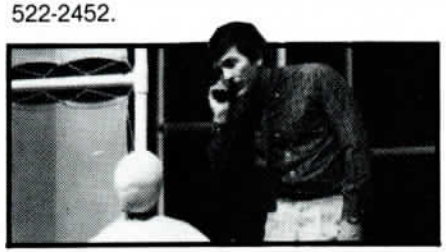
Last Sunday, Numbers 2 hosted The White Party with special guest appearance by the musical duo Claudja Barry and Ronnie Jones. There were more hot men at this event than Houston has seen in one place in a long time. They were all wearing white . . . but I don't think they were all "pure." Claudja and Ronnie performed a second show later that evening for the public, and the audience reception was pure energy.

The Copa brought Grace Jones to Houston last Friday night. Grace sang some old and recent tunes and it was apparent that when Grace Jones tells you to "Get Down On Your Knees," you'd better or she may just knock you to them. She also revealed plans to make a movie after her tour of Australia, but would not elaborate on what movie it is. You should hear the story of how she got her tooth knocked out by an irate doorman at a club in Paris . . . but . . . my lips are sealed.



Grace Jones and Mo Cruz

Dick Sheffield tries to figure out his "friends'" blank expression in a scene from the bright new comedy musical, Cleavage by Saturday Night Live writers David and Buddy Sheffield, on stage at the Tower Theatre, now through May 9. Tickets are available at all Ticket Master locations and the Tower box office, 522-2452.



SAN ANTONIO (512)

To use the phrase "creatures of the night" seems appropriate for Bonham Exchanges' alternative dance music. In the Grand Ballroom at 11:00pm, April 18, you will be treated to the sounds of BA Syndicate, Entropics and the Himmel Band.

Entropics

Listed are the events slated for the month of April at gay establishments.

Apr. 16—Boystown Gang (Alcatraz, Dallas)
Apr. 17—Sylvester (Tex's Colorado St. Bar, Austin)

The 4th Annual Houston International Film Festival

The 4th Annual Houston International Film Festival includes feature films, shorts, documentaries, TV commercials, experimental and TV productions. Also included are film-making workshops, Great Director seminars and production symposiums. Screenplay writing, cinematography, special effects, finance and distribution are among the scheduled seminar subjects.

Following are synopses of three of the many feature films to be screened during the festival; a complete list of films follows the synopses.

«SOLDIER GIRLS»

Soldier Girls follows a platoon of fifty young female recruits in Charlie Company at Fort Gordon, Georgia, as they undergo fourteen weeks of basic combat training. Focusing on the experiences of three women, two of whom are quickly disenchanted with military life and one who embraces it and readies herself for the 82nd Airborne Division, Soldier Girls is a startling expose of the methods and rituals involved in training today's Army.

Horrifying and funny: the ineffable drill sergeant biting off the head of a live chicken to demonstrate survival techniques; women chanting "I want to go to Iran, I want to kill an Iranian, pillage, plunder, burn, RAPE"; lectures on the "friendly" use of nuclear weapons and how to "brush off" radioactive dust. In the words of Newsweek critic David Ansen, Soldier Girls is "a blackly comic portrait of an American institution," and William Wolf of New York Magazine calls Soldier Girls "a hilarious anti-war satire, at times resembling a Mel Brooks sketch." Hailed by critics as the "real" Private Benjamin story, the film also received the International Critics Award at the Mannheim Film Festival in October. Soldier Girls was made by the award-winning team of Nicholas Broomfield and Joan Churchill.

◀SHARING▶ ◀THE▶ ◀SECRET▶

More than 50 interviews were conducted over a nine-month period to select the five men whose lives are depicted in this powerful documentary which includes rarely-glimpsed aspects of homosexual life from gay bars to a gay bathhouse, from special dress codes to secret fantasies.

Sharing the Secret shows how gays are still torn between pride and pain despite a decade of militancy. The film is not about obvious gay stereotypes but focuses on members of the gay silent majority—men who are exposing themselves at great personal risk to show the non-gay public that most gay people are just like anyone else.

Great controversy followed the presentation of Sharing the Secret on Canada's national television network. It was denounced by the supporters of Renaissance International, Canada's Moral Majority-type movement. The film has been banned in Australia.

The five portraits are: ANDRE, a 22-year-old stockbroker, son of one of Canada's leading businessmen, whose self-loathing of his sexual orientation has led him to self-inflicted punishment; PETER, a talented young musician, proud of his lifestyle, who cruises the gay underworld in search of sexual partners; ROCCO, scion of a devoutly religious family whose background has left him horrifed by the brazen promiscuity of the gay community; LEE, the cherished son of an ultra-conservative family who at first reject him, but then slowly and painfully accept his homosexuality; ALEX, a 44-year-old warehouse manager who has come out of the closet after posing as a heterosexual for 24 years.

Sharing the Secret is a CBC production, directed by John Kastner.

JANE AUSTEN IN MANHATTAN

This is the story of two rival factions attempting to produce a newly discovered play by Jane Austen. The manuscript, acquired at auction by a rich dilettante, has been given to Pierre (ROBERT POWELL), together with a grant from a cultural foundation. But for Pierre the text with which he has been entrusted is only a pretext. His interest is not in dramatic but in existential techniques and he has collected a group of devoted young people—idealistic drop-outs, intense girls, even a mentally unbalanced youth—with and through whom he carries out his experiments. Fanatically devoted to him, they live together in a communal loft in a district of converted 19th century warehouses. Here Pierre trains them in techniques that are more concerned with developing their psychic or spiritual potential than the dramatic possibilities of the Jane Austen play.

Pierre's most strenuous opponent is Lilianna (ANNE BAXTER), an actress and dramatic coach. Lilianna does care for the play itself and also for all those traditional trappings of the theatre which Pierre has set out to negate. Lilianna's opposition is the more bitter because he was once her favorite student; perhaps even something more than that. She fights to get the play away from him and the grant and some of his actors and to set up a production of her own. She forms an alliance with another actor, Victor (KURT JOHNSON), who opposes Pierre for having abducted a beautiful young girl not only away from the legitimate theatre but from Victor himself.

Film Comment's Gilbert Adair says, "Anne Baxter, glittering like a diamond of fire, is worth the price of admission alone. The socio-cultural beat covered is very much Woody Allen's, a world of Broadway musicals and off-Broadway theatre communes, Upper East Side endowment funds and Soho lofts, half-Liberty Hall, half-Annie Hall."

HOT TEA by Chuck

FIESTA '82 — What began in 1891 as a tribute to President Harrison has catapulted into a full-blown ten-day celebration of total gaity. It's Fiesta '82 in San Antonio which begins this weekend and climaxes with the big gay-rush next weekend. Of the over 2 million tourists going to Fiesta '82, more than the customary 10% are certain to be gay! Although many gay tourists have always believed that Fiesta is the celebration of gay-openness and out-of-the-Alamo-closet-upfrontness, Fiesta is actually the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto where Texans won their independence. Of course, history has proven that many of those Texans were also gay, which is reason enough to celebrate gay independence at Fiesta!

ALAMO TEA — The Mustang Club of Houston has announced the formation of their new chartered chapter, Mustangs of San Antonio, who will officially hang their colors at Snuffy's Saloon, their new home bar, on April 25, during Fiesta . . . and, the effort which produced Bent and Streamers will present Boys In The Band at Bonham Exchange in early May.

ART FESTIVAL — Thanks to our loyal friend at city hall, Montrose city councilman George Greanias, motor vehicles will be banned for the first time on Westheimer this weekend during the Westheimer Colony Art Festival . . . the beer booth in front of the Montrose Clinic will benefit both the clinic and the band . . . the Midnite Sun is again doing non-stop drag shows during this festival weekend . . . the Mustang Band will be playing at Tim's Coffeeshop . . . and TWT will, as usual, be back at 300 Westheimer, in front of Numbers Two where Melba Moore entertains on stage this Sunday night.

UNTOLD STORY — More on Kandi Delight's stolen dress! It was returned mysteriously in the middle of the night in a brown paper sack and left on the doorstep of Miss Riki Rousseaux's apartment. Investigation continues, a delighted Miss Delight said to the delight of HOT TEA.

OSCAR WINNERS — Congratulations to Bill Stalsworth of Dallas who has won $100 in TWT's annual "pick the academy award winners" contest. The runner-up was Michael Olich of Houston. Bill got 15 categories right; Michael got 14—no one predicted all the winners right! But then hardly anyone even in Hollywood predicted the best movie, Chariots of Fire. Three times more people entered this year's TWT contest than last year! Until next year, see you at the movies.

BIG D — Dena Kaye entertains next Wednesday at the Texas Music and Feed Company . . . the Oak Lawn Symphonic Band presents a free concert this Friday and Saturday at the MCCD . . . Bill (Maye) Clark is the new daytime bartender at the Wild Crowd . . . the Fraternity House is starting Aerobic dance lessons . . . and, the Landing's six-month talent finals are next Wednesday.

DALLAS — Boystown Gang plays Alcatraz this Friday night, April 16, in appreciation of ace dj Doug Williams (see CRUISE CAMERA photo above) who remixed all their music . . . the HOT TEA is that The Gang will world premiere their new album while on stage . . . also ➤ on stage at Theatre III next Thursday will be Noel Coward's comedy play "Design For Living;" door prize from DGA is a color TV . . . receiving a cheap crown of aluminum foil and $2.50, The Dragon Lady has won the uncoveted title of Miss Gutter Snipe and Tavern Bitch with Miss Haywire placing as runner-up . . . and, rushing to congratulate A.C. of the Eighth Day upon winning the Bartender's Drag show at Tex's Ranch was the electrifying Tex himself. See CRUISE CAMERA photo (below) by Robert Araya of Mimosa Studio.

HILL & HILL — Last Monday in Houston's Municipal Court, Judge Breen found Ray Hill not guilty of interfering with HPD officers J.L. Kelley and R.D. Holtsclaw on Valentine's Day when Ray Hill had stopped to help Charles Hill who was apparently about to be arrested and assaulted by Houston's finest!

AUSTIN — The bizarre Sylvester will be in concert this Saturday night, April 17, at Tex's Colorado Street Bar . . . a very dynamic woman, Rev. Joan Wakeford, has given up her assistant pastorship at the MCC-Dallas to become the new pastor of the MCC-Austin at a 1:30pm installation this Sunday afternoon . . . and a gang of 40 terrorized Pease Park on Palm Sunday with an impromptu gay parade complete with twirler and silver spangled flag "girl."

NEW ORLEANS — An entire city block—a gay complex called Menefee's—is to open on North Rampart Street this summer. The huge entertainment-plex will feature an olympic size swimming pool, complete universal and nautilus health studio, 24-hour bar by pool, second floor piano bar and restaurant, and a third floor 17-room guest house plus private dining facilities. Owner Jerry Menefee told HOT TEA that earlier plans to open the club in June have now been reasonably "set for August." ➤

HOUSTON — HOT TEA has tried to get to the source of the scenario as to what's about to emerge from the depths of The Drum and The Dock, but sensual lips remain sealed tighter than a drum sitting on a dock . . . rising to the Falkland Island war effort in true British tradition, the Union Jack window proclaims "Don't Cry For Me Argentina" . . . Over 80 members and guests attended BWMT's second annual Funny Bunny Party and Easter Egg Smash last Sunday . . . this Friday, E.J. White and Coco participate in the lip-sinc semi-finals at the Double Tree Hotel . . . and, Evelyn, the entrepreneur, has purchased Flowers by Gary.

CHASES & LASERS — The chase is on to Chases (ye ol' Parade) which opens this Friday night with laser lights chasing above customers chasing tricks below who are chasing down drinks at the all new Chases!

TATTLE TALE — The most unusual thing that happened at last Friday's Grace Jones concert at The Copa happened backstage where Grace was signing autographs. Having run out of paper, one fan, Forrest Duke, suggested Grace autograph his dick. "Bring it over here and put it on the table," said Grace. "Oh, I see I'll have to write kind of small," the dialogue continued. HOT TEA asks what every queen asks—will Forrest ever wash it again? Forrest is the companion of hot-shot super TWT salesman Chuck Oberg (left) shown in this CRUISE CAMERA photo with Smitty (right) of the BRB. They, along with countless others, brought their "own meat" to the popular Wednesday night steak-out, which has returned for the summer.
